WEATHER.

U. S. Department of Agriculture,
Weather Bureau,
Toledo, O., Oct. 14, 1892.

The area of high barometric pressure still covers the eastern half of the country and has and will cause continued fair weather.

The storm central in the west for the past three days is remarkable on account of its north and south movements. Since yesterday it has moved from Kansas to North Dakota, and it now seems to be seeking an outlet over the upper lake region. This storm has been very severe in portions of the west, but has lost much of its energy during the past 24 hours.

Rains have fallen over Iowa, Nebraska, Wisconsin, North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Missouri and portions of Kansas during the past 24 hours; in all other sections of the country the weather has been generally fair. Conditions are favorable for rains in any portion of the country between the Rocky mountains and the Mississippi river to-day.

The temperature has fallen over Montana, South Dakota, Nebraska, Wyoming and Colorado; it has risen over North Dakota and the upper lake region; in all other sections it has remained stationary. The temperature will fall over the west to-day and to-morrow; in the east it will change slightly.

Local forecast for Toledo and vicinity: On Friday, fair, stationary temperature. On Saturday possible showers.

E. A. HANNER, Observer.

Washington, Oct. 14.—Forecast for Ohio and Indiana—Fair; southerly winds; cooler Saturday.

For Illinois—Local showers followed by clearing weather; southwesterly winds; slightly cooler in northwestern portion.

For Michigan—Fair, followed by local showers Saturday afternoon or night; warm, southerly winds, followed by cooler Saturday evening.

For Wisconsin—Local showers; southerly winds; becoming variable; cooler in northern and western portions.

MR. PECK.

He Denies that He Has Taken Passage for Europe.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 14.—Labor Commissioner Peck was asked by a United Press reporter to-day whether the published report of his having secured passage to Europe was true. He said: "There is no foundation for such a story. I do not intend going obroad."

"You will not sail this week, then?"

"No; the only sailing I shall do is after mugwump scalps," he replied.

PIONEER DEAD.

Tiffin, O., Oct. 14.—(Special)—John L. Downs, of Eden township, died to-day of cancer. He came to Seneca county in 1821, and was 83 years old.

An eruption, no matter how slight, warns you and every one who sees it that your blood isn't pure. If you're wise, you'll heed the warning. You'll look about for a remedy.

And this is what you'll find: plenty of medicines advertised to purify the blood, but just one that's guaranteed—and that is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It's a medicine that does what is promised for it—that's the reason. It rouses every organ into healthy action, purifies and enriches the blood, and through it cleanses and renews the entire system. All Blood, Skin and Scalp Diseases, from a common eruption to the worst Scrofula are cured by it. For Tetter, Salt-rheum, Eczema, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Enlarged Glands, Tumors, and Swellings, it's an unequaled remedy.

If it doesn't benefit or cure, in every case, you have your money back. You pay only for the good you get.

THE DALTONS

Have Again Excited Coffeyville People.

Threats to Burn the Town and Get Revenge

For the Killing of the Bank Robbers.

An Armed Posse Ready to Receive Them.

There Will Be Warm Times If Any Attempt Is Made by the Highwaymen to Disturb the Peace.

Parsons, Kan., Oct. 14.—This city was excited yesterday over a telegram from Coffeyville stating that a large posse of men believed to be the same gang that held up the Missouri Pacific train and supposed to be connected with the notorious Dalton gang of outlaws, who met their death at Coffeyville the 5th, had organized and were moving upon Coffeyville with the avowed purpose of avenging the death of the Daltons. Since the Dalton massacre many persons have been in Coffeyville and have openly condemned the manner in which this notorious gang met its death and several sympathizers have been arrested and confined in jail.

As soon as the news of the contemplated invasion of Coffeyville was made public here a posse of men was at once armed and was ready to embark on a special train for Coffeyville when the news reached this city that there was no likelihood of any trouble an dthat in case of any invasion the people of Coffeyville were prepared to cope with the invaders.

The town of Coffeyville has been a pandemonium of excitement, yet no braver set of men ever shouldered a gun than the gallant and fearless citizens of this Kansas town.

There is every reason to believe from the action of some of the men who have visited Coffeyville that if Emmett Dalton recovers some steps will be taken by his friends to liberate him.

The people of Coffeyville will see to it that he gets his just deserts, even if they again have to resort to arms.

The following letter, received by John Kloehr, the man who has the credit of killing three of the Dalton gang, shows at least all of the gang is not dead:

"Arkansas City, Oct. 14.

To John Kloehr: Dear sir: I take the time to tell you and the citizens of Coffeyville that all the gang ain't dead yet by a d—d sigh, and don' you forget it. I would have given all I ever made to have been there the 5th. There are five of the gang left and we shall come and see you all some day. That day, Oct. 5th, we were down in the Chickasaw nation and we did not know it was coming off so soon. We thought it was to be November 5. We shall have revenge for your killing of Bob and Grat and the rest of them. You people had no cause to take arms against the gang. The bankers will not help the widows of the men that got killed there and you tought you were playing —— when you killed three of us, but your time will soon come when you will have to go into the grave and pass in your checks for the killing of Bob and Joe Evans and Texas Jack, so take warning. We will leave you in the hands of God for this time. Yours truly, Dalton Gang, and sympathizers of this gang.

The town is wild with excitement over a reported attempt to burn the town and kill the people out of revenge for the killing of the Dalton gang last week. The report started from the robbing of the Missouri Pacific train near Coffeyville. The mayor of Coffeyville telegraphed the report to Parsons and the superintendent of the M., K. & T. road at once fitted up a car with a posse of rifles and sent it to Coffeyville.

It arrived at 2 o'clock yesterday and found the place wild with excitement. Doors and windows were barricaded and everybody was armed to the teeth.

All of the rifles in the town were in readiness and every man stood waiting for an attack. The car from the M., K. & T. at Parsons, stood at the depot barricaded and armed. In the homes women and children were frightened over disoutlook for another bloody encounter with the bandits, and the mayor of Coffeyville conferred with the railroad officials and wired to Parsons that the people here could care for themselves, as the number of the attacking party was greatly magnified and that a matter of a few hours would result in their capture. "Coffeyville people," said he, "have shown their ability to care for themselves." Ben and Wm. Dalton and many of their sympathizers have been loitering about Coffeyville for days.

"Tuesday Emmett Dalton's wounded body was removed to Independence. Ben and William and their mother accompanied him. Since then nothing has been heard from them here. Last night a bonfire was started in the plaza of the town to furnish an illumination.

"The information of the approach of the Daltons was conveyed to the people of Coffeyville by the force under Detective Dodge, of the Wells-Fargo company, who is scouring the Indian territory for members of the gang. One of his men heard it and wired the mayor of Coffeyville, who asked for help from Parsons and got it. The plan was for George Dalton and 40 whites and half-breeds, completely armed, to ride into Coffeyville at 9 o'clock last night and wipe out the place. No mercy was to be given, according to Dodge's information.

"Upon the receipt of the notice of the impending raid the people assembled at the public square and were told off in detachments. A portion of them were held in reserve at the jail to go to the aid of any point that might be attacked. Others dismounted and established a cordon around the village, guarding every approach to the town, making it a matter of practical impossibility for any one to reach the city without being observed. In addition to these precautions a mounted patrol was sent out a distance of four miles into the country, where a most vigilant watch was kept up.

"All the citizens were well armed with rifles and revolvers and plenty of ammunition. As in the case with all border towns more especially those on the Indian territory line, the people possess an abundance of improved fire arms and good ammunition and an excellent idea of their use. The patrol consists of men who have been in more than one fight, who are cool, determined fellows, ready to face death if need be.

The country in this vicinity is open to a great extent and the only hope of the gang would be to catch the guards unawares. This is made the more difficult, as the old campaigners, who control their movements, directed the guards, both mounted and on foot, to carefully avoid the roads, to keep in the background and thus hold off any cross-country flank movement.

"While the roads are seemingly unoccupied it would be utterly impossible for any living thing to move in the direction of the town without a challenge swiftly followed by a shot if not heeded. It is probable that the outlaws have got wind of the reception awaiting them and have postponed their raid until a more favorable opportunity.

STREET CAR ACCIDENT.

They Are Becoming as Bad as Railroad.

Boston, Oct. 14.—About 7 o'clock yesterday evening a crowded electric car while going down a steep grade on Broadway, South Boston, became unmanageable owing to the slippery rails and when between H and I streets the forward truck left the track.

This broke the swivel bar which went up through the car and through the roof, injuring quite a number of passengers. None of them were sufficiently injured to necessitate their removal to the hospital.

Among the wounded were Lizzie Bradley, 35, left shoulder and right hip hurt; Mrs. Mary Barry, 70, cut on right side of face, also right hand hurt; M. L. Sadler, 35, scalp wounds; M. J. Plunket, 43, cut over the eye. Half a dozen others received bruises more or less severe. The car was considerably damaged.

DANGEROUSLY WOUNDED.

Bucyrus, O., Oct. 14.—Charles Flickinger, while out shooting squirrels, was shot through the neck by a companion named Bishop with a ball from a rifle. The men were about 15 feet apart looking up a tree to get sight of a fox squirrel. Bishop made a step backward when he tripped, the gun being discharged. Flickinger is dangerously wounded.

HAPPENED AT FREMONT.

Fremont, O., Oct. 14.—John Haas, of Lindsey, fell or was thrown off the late Lake Shore train Wednesday night and received fatal injuries.

Samuel Skinner, a prominent and wealthy pioneer, held a family reunion yesterday. One hundred and one descendants were present.

LUIS SENZ PENA

Is Now President of Argentine Republic.

He Took the Oath Without Any Trouble.

His Cabinet as Far as Made Public.

An Eight Million Dollar Deficiency.

Crespo Is Anxious To Have the United States Officially Recognize His Government—Foreign Affairs.

New York, Oct. 14.—A special cable to the Herald from Valparaiso says: The Herald correspondent at Buenos Ayres says that Senor Luis Senz Pena took the oath of office as president of the republic yesterday.

Everything was quiet in the city despite the fears of trouble. Police and soldiers were on guard about the halls of congress and the whole city was well guarded and preparations were taken to prevent any rioting. President Pena announces that the right of local self-government in the provinces will not be interfered with, except in cases where the grave trouble arises.

The cabinet as announced is as follows:

War—Senor Victoria.
Foreign Affairs—Senor Anchorena.
Justice—Senor Torres.
Finance—Senor Romero.

Gen. Roca will in all probability be sent to France as Argentine minister. Nicholas Calvo will go to the United States to confer with President Harrison in regard to the relations between the two countries.

The deficiency in the Argentine revenue is $8,000,000 in paper and $127,000 in gold.

A case of cholera has appeared at Boca. Buenos Ayres has concluded a three days' festival in honor of Christopher Columbus.

The Chilian journals say that President Monti's message, sent through Minister Egan, to the United States, is an expression of good feeling towards Americans, but is in no sense to be regarded as a personal compliment to Mr. Egan or the administration of President Harrison.

The leading papers in Santiago had a good deal to say about what they call the bluster of Argentine officials and say that neither Chile nor any of the South American republics need enter into any fratricidal war.

News comes from Montevideo that a law has been passed providing for the coinage of $3,000,000 of silver. It is feared that this exceeds the needs of the country and may derange business affairs. There is little probability that the French loan will be perfected.

Yellow fever has appeared at Santos, Brazil.

New York, Oct. 14.—A special cable to the Herald from Caracas, Venezuela, says: "I have learned that Gens. Crespo and Bustamente are very anxious to secure the recognition of the United States for the new government. They have already requested a private conference with Minister Scruggs and are anxiously awaiting a favorable answer from the Washington authorities. Crespo has asked Rojas Paul to return to Venezuela. Senor Michelena has declined the appointment as minister to Madrid. Either Siluzzo or Abreu will be appointed to the post. No selection has as yet been made for consul to New York under the new government. El Radical has been established in Caracas as a ministerial organ. The cabinet has decided to remove the censorship of the press and the mails are declared inviolate.

Barcelona is besieged by a legalist force under Sietemil, and its surrender is now a question of but a few days. The inhabitants are on the verge of starvation. It is expected that Admiral Walker's flagship, the Chicago, will soon sail.

SUSTAINED THE OFFICER.

Newark, O., Oct. 14.—A jury was empaneled in the Haslett manslaughter case after considerable trouble. After the state had produced all its evidence Judge Hunter, Haslett's attorney, moved the court to direct the jury to bring a verdict for the defendant on the ground that upon the evidence there was no case against him. The jury rendered a verdict of not guilty. Haslett was arresting George Swigart, and the latter was killed in the scuffle.

ENCAMPMENT OF U. V. U.

Akron, O., Oct. 14.—Beginning with next Tuesday a three-days' encampment of the U. V. U. of Ohio and Indiana will be held in this city. Department Commander L. F. Ellis will open the encampment and Hon. S. S. Yoder, national commander, will be present and address the veterans. On Wednesday evening a grand campaign will be held.

BISHOP HORSTMANN.

He Is Ill and Has Returned to Philadelphia.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 14.—Bishop Horstmann's health has become seriously impaired, and he has found it necessary to leave Cleveland for a short time, that he may obtain rest and recreation. He will go to his former home in Philadelphia for a time, in the hope that the change of climate may prove beneficial. He has been suffering from hay fever, and this, added to his labors as diocesan in this and other cities, has temporarily broken down his health.

WHITEHOUSE.

Whitehouse, Oct. 14.—(Special)—Candidate Ashley was here yesterday and talked to 100 people. He waved the wild cat as terrifically as Foraker can wave the sacred republican shirt, but he did not tell the farmers many things they wanted to know about the tariff. Whitehouse is ripe to cheer for Byron Ritchie.

SPECULATION NIPPED IN THE BUD.

Mansfield, O., Oct. 14.—Charles Diehl, aged 19, son of Samuel K. Diehl, of Seitzland, Pa., engaged a horse and buggy of F. M. Roasberry, a liveryman here, to drive into the country. He went to Bellville, where his offer to sell the rig for $30 aroused suspicion and he was arrested and brought back to this city to await trial.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Shelby, O., Oct. 14.—James Nimmons, an employe in the City Mills, was dangerously injured yesterday by being caught in the machinery. His shoulder is badly torn and taree ribs broken. His escape was miraculous, the slipping of a key in the cog-wheel being all that saved him from being drawn into the machine.

RENOMINATED.

Newport, R. I., Oct. 14.—Both the republicans and democrats held caucuses yesterday and renominated most of the candidates for municipal offices named by them at previous caucuses, this action being made necessary by the complications that have arisen in connection with the coming municipal election. The mayoralty candidates are Col. J. W. Horton, republican, and Samuel S. Honey, democrat.

TRIED TO POISON HIS CHILD.

Urbana, O., Oct. 14.—John Doremer attempted to pour a vial of poison down the throat of his little boy, and was only prevented by the interference of his two older sons. The man when drinking has a malice towards his wife and child, and has threatened both of them numerous times.

LOST IN A GALE.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 14.—It is stated in a special dispatch from Tasley, Accomac county, that Capt. John Marsh, with two men named Madcap and Baker, sailed in his schooner for Baltimore to secure a crew of dredgers. When off Burn island in Chesapeake bay the schooner was capsized in a gale and the three were lost.

RETURN POSTALS.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14.—The new return postal card will be placed on sale at the leading postoffices of the country to-morrow morning. There are two designs, one for domestic and the other for international service.

ARRESTED AT LAST.

New York, Oct. 14.—August Langner is locked up at police headquarters. He is charged with the murder of Mary Emerson, of Dedham Mass., on June 2, 1891.

VAN LOON APPEALS

To Governor McKinley for Clemency.

He Argues His Case Very Strongly.

If He Dies on the Scaffold He Says the Governor Will Live to Regret It.

Columbus, O., Oct. 14.—Frank Van Loon, the supposed Columbus Grove bank robbers and murderer, under sentece of death, and now confiend in the annex of the Ohio penitentiary awaiting execution, has made a final appeal to the governor.

Yesterday he entrusted to the care of his wife a letter to the governor and this was delivered by her last night.

It is a long communication and deals with the history of the crime in all the details. In the first place he says that the evidence was insufficient to warrant his conviction. He goes on in support of this in an analysis of the testimony offered.

This is presented in an ingenuitive way and shows an ability not heretofore credited the prisoner. His main point is the unreliability of certain evidence and a desire to convict somebody by the populace, which led to the consideration of facts that had no bearing on the case.

He refers to the positive identification of another man who was first charged with the crime by a score of witnesses who were proven to be mistaken. "Why can't the witnesses against me be mistaken?" he says.

He alleges that the determination to convict was so strong that the truthful evidence was not considered.

Van Loon then goes on in an appeal to the sympathy of the governor and refers to his wif eand baby. In a closing paragraph he says he is a Christian, declares his innocence and says if the governor permits his execution that he will live to regret it, "for the day will come when I will be proven to be innocent."

STILL THEY COME.

Another Republican Publishes a Card.

Col. George A. Martin Will Vote for Cleveland and Stevenson.

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 14.—Col. George A. Martin, of this city, who left the democratic party twelve years ago, and joined the republican ranks, has returned to his first love. He has been one of the most active republicans in this district during that time, but in a published card announces that he will support Cleveland and Stevenson.

PRINCE PEDRO'S CONDITION

Vienna, Oct. 174.—The condition of Prince Pedro, of Brazil, who became insane and was placed in the Doebling asylum October 4, is unchanged. The prince is raving violently and cannot recognize his friends.

WITH THE JURY

The Fate of John Daly Now Rests, for Weal or Woe.

Testimony and Arguments Are Concluded,

And the Public, as Well as the Indicted Councilman, Will Await the Verdict With Great Anxiety.

The fate of John Daly will not be a matter of conjecture much longer. The evidence is all in, the case is made, and the arguments, before the Bee goes to press, will be over. Then follows the charge of the court, after which the jury will retire and upon its report the liberty of ten men suspends.

The club house meeting, he testified, was held on Wednesday at 2 o'clock, but he did not get out until about 3.

Mr. Barber questioned him very closely as to who were in the summer house during the afternoon. He swore that they were not in the club house all together, and that Felker had not arrived as the meeting was breaking up; also that Tanner did not inform Felker that they had agreed to vote against the Robison ordinance.

"Did not the members present at the club house come straight to the council chamber and vote solidly against the Robison ordinance?"

"No, sir."

"You were opposed to the Pluto ordinance, were you not?"

"Yes, sir."

"You voted for it when it passed, did you not?"

"Yes, sir; I voted for it after I was indicted."

"Did you vote for it on its merits?"

"I did not."

"Did you vote for it because you were indicted?"

"Well, the papers were talking about us, and Mr. Quale, a friend of mine, came to me and said I had better vote for it, and I did so."

Mr. Barber then called his attention to the offer made by Machen, and said:

"Did not Machen say that he heard the council was going to knock out their ordinance that night?"

"No, sir."

"And did you not say that Hartford was opposing it, but that it could be put through?"

"No, sir."

"And did you not take a slip of paper and write $500 and say 'how will that strike you?'"

"No, sir."

"And did he not say to you, 'What do you mean, $500 for 11 votes?' and did not you say, 'No, $500 each for 11 votes?'"

"No, sir."

"And did you not say to Machen in front of Hockenberger's that if they did not have the money, stock would do?"

"No, sir."

Mr. Barber then wanted to know what object he had in bringing up his offer at the club house meeting, to which the witness replied that he just happened to think of it, and spoke of it more as a joke.

He testified that Faskins was only present at one meeting, and that was at his store. He did not recollect that he (Faskins) was present at the meeting held at Tanner's office.

"Will you tell us who were at the meeting?"

"Well, at the first meeting there were Gill, Neuendorf, Tanner, Swain, Faskins, and at the second, Tanner, Felker, Swain, Neuendorf, Doner, Taylor, Schmuhl, Rutherford, and at the third, Daly, Swain, Felker, Rutherford, Manchester, Taylor, Doner. At Rutherford's store there were Rutherford, Schmuhl, Taylor, Manchester, Doner, Gill."

The defense then called Councilman Schmuhl. He likewise testified that meetings were held outside of the regular meetings of the council. He remembered that the first meeting was held at Neuendorf's store. Swain invited him to attend.

Mr. Schmuhl went on to relate a long story, when the court arose, and pointing his index finger at Mr. Brophy, said:

"Mr. Brophy, don't let that witness wander off into conversation of that kind any more."

The witness did not remember the dates of any of the meetings, and did not remember all who were present. Like Neuendorf, he had some business in the vicinity of the club house and he went out. They talked about some pipe line ordinance. He did not know what was said, or which ordinance it was. He did not know whether the Northwestern gas ordinance or the Warren-Scharf paving contracts were spoken of. He did not know whether anything was said about certain corporations offering money or not. He could not remember very distinctly what did occur.

On cross-examination his memory seemed exceedingly treacherous. He remembered attending three meetings, but could not remember who were present. He did remember that the meetings were held just to discuss each other's interest, to assist one another in ward legislation, etc.

"Were you to vote together?"

"In the council meeting they could vote together if they wanted to."

"How could you help each other unless you all voted together?"

"Well, if I had something in my ward that I wanted to get through, I could bring it up, and then they could vote for it if they wanted to."

He said he did not hear anything said about the oil ordinance.

At the next meeting, held at Tanner's office, he went with Taylor. When he arrived all members were present. They were getting ready to go home when he got there.

"What was the meeting for?"

"I do not know."

"What did you go for?"

"Well, Neuendorf told me that they were going to meet at Tanner's office that night."

"What did you go for?"

"Well, I wanted to see what was going on there."

"Did you find out?"

"No."

"Were you at the club house meeting?"

"Yes, sir."

"Were you at Rutherford's store to a meeting?"

"No, sir."

"If Mr. Neuendorf should swear that you were at Rutherford's store at a meeting, what would you say as to your memory?"

"I cannot remember that I was there."

"At the club house meeting the gas ordinance was discussed, was it not?"

"I do not remember."

"Were the railway and oil ordinances before the council at the time of the club house meeting?"

"I do not remember."

"Did the Pluto oil ordinance come up at the next meeting after the club house meeting?"

"It did."

"How did you vote?"

"I don't remember, but guess I voted against it."

"Did not all the men who attended these meetings vote against the ordinance?"

"I do not know."

"What did you stand up and take hold of hands for at the meeting at Neuendorf's store?"

"What do you mean?"

"I want to know what you stood up and took hands for."

"I didn't see anything like that."

Councilman Taylor was called by the defense.

"Did you attend any meetings ever held outside of the regular meetings of the council?"

"I did not."

"Did you know of any meetings that were held?"

"I did."

Mr. Taylor then stated that when he arrived at the meeting at Tanner's office the meeting was over. Such was the case when he arrived at the clubhouse. The members were all there, but they seemed to be having a good time. He did not hear anything said about any of the ordinances spoken of in previous evidence.

"Did Mr. Henry Lorenz ever come to your store and offer you money to vote for the ordinance?"

The state objected on the ground that it was not evidence on the subject.

Judge Ritchie stated that George E. Lorenz testified that he employed Henry Lorenz as agent to go out and bring in as many members of the council as possible; that the charge is that the defendant was soliciting a reward; that instead of soliciting a bribe the Pluto Oil company was offering a reward; that under these circumstances it would not be necessary to solicit a reward.

The court sustained the objection, asserting the same reason as before, that if they had offered a reward neither Henry Lorenz nor George E. Lorenz were on trial; that they were guilty of a crime, could be indicted, tried, and if found guilty punished, but another case was before the jury and the defense should adhere to the issue of the case on trial.

"We offer to prove," said Mr. Brophy, "that Mr. Henry Lorenz offered Mr. Taylor money to vote for their ordinance, in the presence of P. C. Beard."

"You will not be allowed to introduce the evidence," said the court.

Mr. Taylor did not remember of any meeting held at his store or any agreement to have one at that place.

On cross-examination the state endeavored to get the names of those present at the meeting which the witness attended, though he could not remember. He said Mr. Schmuhl invited him to go while they were out for a walk.

The defense called P. C. Beard, jr., in whose presence Mr. Brophy said Judge Lorenz offered Mr. Taylor money to vote for their ordinance.

He testified that some Lorenz came to the store, but he did not know whether it was Henry Lorenz or not. He said he came to the store in the month of June, and that the visitor came to see Mr. Taylor.

"What was said?"

"We object."

Following this came more argument on the question ruled upon by the court a short time before, the ruling being the same.

Mrs. Augusta Taylor, wife of William Taylor, was called by the defense.

She was asked whether George Thomas called on her husband at their residence and stated that if her husband would vote for the Pluto Oil ordinance the Bellman-Machen Meat company would buy all of its supplies of him.

The witness was not allowed to answer the question.

W. S. Brainard went on the tand and testified as to Mr. Daly's good character.

Mr. Brophy stated that there were six more to testify as to character, but they could not be found; that they had supposed they would not be needed to-day and went home.

The court held that the witness must be produced, that the trial must proceed without delay.

Judge Ritchie stated that excepting the character witnesses, the defense was ready to rest and suggested that their testimony could be taken in the morning. While he was speaking John Waring came in and testified with regard to Mr. Daly's character, speaking in the highest terms of the defendant's past, so far as he knew.

The state called August Machen in rebuttal.

Mr. Machen testified that he never offered Mr. Gill a cent. He testified that he was at Mr. Gill's office several times talking about the ordinances. He asked Mr. Gill to introduce the ordinance and that Gill warned him about the combination which had been formed, and that his ordinance would be opposed by it.

George E. Lorenz was next called by the state. He testified that during the time of the interview between Daly, Tanner and Gill, Mr. Daly was in the office during the whole time and sat near his desk; that he did not go out in the front office at any time until he went away; than there was no whispering, but that the conversation was carried on in an ordinary tone of voice. During the interview with Daly and Tanner the same conditions existed.

Arguing to the Jury.

When the court convened this morning O. L. Peck was called and testified as to Mr. Daly's character.

Judge Ritchie requested leave to introduce a certificate of corporation of the Pluto Oil company, certified to by the secretary of state. The state made no objection.

"Your Honor, with that we close," said Judge Ritchie.

"Has the state any other evidence?" asked the court.

"We have not, your honor."

"Proceed with the argument."

Mr. Tracy made the opening argument and introduced the same by reviewing briefly, the charges against the defendant.

We have proven to you that the Pluto Oil company is a corporation authorized by the state of Ohio; that the city of Toledo is a city of the first class and third grade, and that the ordinance was legally pending before the city council, and we are now down to the only question, and that is whether or not John Daly is guilty of soliciting a bribe from the Pluto Oil company, or not.

It is not a question as to whether others offered John Daly money, or whether August Machen offered anybody any money, but whether John Daly is guilty of the charges made. It matters not whether Charles Neuendorf told the truth when he swore that August Machen offered him $25,000 worth of Pluto oil stock when the stated amount of stock which that company may issue is only $20,000.

The speaker then reviewed Mr. Swain's testimony. He stated that the other side would try to prove all manner of things of Mr. Swain. He could not see what motive under heaven Ransom P. Swain, would have for coming into court and smirching himself all over by swearing to a lie. What he said about the meetings was the truth, as he was the only man on the stand who gave a straight and connected account of the meetings. The other witnesses, Gill, Neuendorf, and Schmuhl, admitted that the meetings were held and that they were present, but the most rigid cross-examination failed to draw out a single thing that had transpired at any of the meetings.

"Gentlemen, Mr. Swain told the truth when he said that at the first meeting held at Neuendorf's store, those present stood up and took a solemn pledge not to reveal what transpired at the meetings, and those witnesses had more respect for that pledge taken hand in hand in the darkness of that room than the oath taken in this court before man and God.

Mr. Tracy then read Mr. Swain's testimony to the jury.

As to the first meeting Gill swore that Daly was not present and Daly says he was there. Daly swore that Neuendorf was present at the second meeting at his store, and Neuendorf swore that he was not at the second meeting at his store but gave his key to Swain."

Mr. Tracy then followed the meetings through from first to last, and in presenting the testimony as to those present he showed that the testimony of the three witnesses was at a great variance, but that on being summed up the whole 11 had attended meeting at different times.

"Gentlemen, do you suppose that Ran-

ARMED RESISTANCE.

Plain City People Have Gone to War

In Order to Keep Away the Diphtheria.

Secretary Probst Fears That an Epidemic of the Disease Cannot Be Avoided.

Columbus, O., Oct. 14.—Secretary Probst, of the state board of health, returned yesterday from New California, Union county where he went to investigate an epidemic of diphtheria.

He greatly fears a general epidemic of the disease. People in the vicinity of New California are panic-stricken, but firm steps are being taken to stamp out the plague.

Plain City, four miles away, has guards on the road and permits no one from New California to enter the village. There are mounted officers to quarantine a house if the diphtheria appears in it.

SPLENDID RACING.

The First Day of the Fall Meeting a Success.

An Excellent List of Interesting Events Hotly Contested—Program for To-Morrow.

Yesterday was an ideal day for the opening of the fall races, and the management of the Toledo Exposition is to be congratulated on the excellence of the program submitted.

There has not been in years a more exciting or more hotly contested race than the 2:27 trot. Katie Earl is a remarkably good little mare, and Mr. Ketcham drove her to the queen's taste.

The time of the second heat, 2:23 1-4, was a surprise to everyone.

J. R. Wheeler is one of the best starters in the country.

There were six entries and five starters in the yearling pace or trot. Dowling is a phenom, and if he is not strained by hard driving in his youth will be a great horse.

Summary.

Yearling trot or pace—Purse $25—Half mile heats:

J. J. Dowling, b. c., by Newton's Allie Wilkes	1	1
Alta May, b. f., by Auctioneer	2	2
Junette, ch. f., by Nobleman	3	3

The 2:27 trot was one of the finest races ever seen on the track. Mr. Wheeler gave the horses a good start. The summary gives a good idea of the lotuess of the contest. It was fought to a finish, and Katie Earl won after a hot fight.

There were 14 entries and 10 starters. Tom Thorn won the first heat with Elmo Maid and Katie Earl good second and thirds respectively. Elmo Maid won the second heat hands down, with Katie a good second. Ketcham's mare got down to business in third, winning it and the two following in grand style. Summary:

Katie Earl, l. m., by Earl	3	2	1	1	1
Elmo Maid, b. m., by Joe Elmo	2	1	2	4	4
Tom Thorn, ch. h., by Western Boy	1	3	3	3	3
Phillis, b. s., by Mastlerode	10	4	9	2	2
Maggie S., b. m., by Waverly	4	6	4	6	8
Silver Star, g. g., by Silver Cloud	7	5	5	7	6
General Custar, br. s., by Lenawee Chief	9	10	10	5	5
Cooke, br. g.	5	8	7	8	7
Etoile, b. h., by King Reene	6	7	8	10	10
Maud C., b. m., by Patterson	8	9	6	9	9

The 2:29 pace failed to fill and a special race was given instead. It was left unfinished on account of darkness. Summary:

Paul M., br. g., by Manchester	1	2	1
Elrick, b. g.	2	1	3
Little Joker, ch. g., by Forest Hal	4	4	4

Time—2:31, 2:29 1-4, 2:28 1-4.

The program for this afternoon is an excellent one and a large attendance is expected.

To-morrow's Races.

The program for to-morrow is as follows:

3-year-old trotting, purse $150.

Silver Scheaf, R. M. Rice, Bryan, O.
Silver Plate, H. M. Hoffman, Three Rivers, Mich.

Ivorine, Shelly & Bro., Holgate, O.
Little Joker, Jack Gilespie, Detroit, Mich.
Willard M., Al Baldwin, Toledo, O.
Lucy B., The Ketcham Farm, Toledo.
Baldwin, H. C. Knill, jr., Port Huron, Mich.
Cascallord, Charles Gauntlett, Milan, Mich.
Charley P., Wm. Branigan, Lexington, Ky.
Cornecracker, Lewis Wigle, Leamington, Ont.

The fact that Lucy B. will again meet Charley P. should bring out a big crowd.

LIMA CASES.

Lima, O., Oct. 14.—Mr. C. M. Wells, the hotel proprietor of Columbus Grove, came here and compromised his case against Dr. Whitney, the alleged forger, and received the amount he advanced on the forged draft. Word was received from the Columbus authorities that Whitney had settled his matters there, and was not wanted. Marshal Sweeney, of Tiffin, accompanied by Rella Burns, the clothing clerk who sold the man, C. C. Edwards, a suit of clothes taking in payment a forged check for $20, came here, but could not positively identify the prisoner. They visited the pawnshops and other places, but did not find the suit of clothes, and returned home last evening. Whitney was released from custody last night, there being nothing upon which to hold him.

SUNDAY LIQUOR SELLING.

Upper Sandusky, O., Oct. 14.—J. C. Pierson, a saloonkeeper, has been indicted by the grand jury for selling intoxicating liquors on Sunday. When the new reform mayor took his office the council passed a Sunday ordinance which has totally been disregarded except upon two Sundays after its passage.

Lewis Lupton has been granted a divorce from his wife, Mary A., as has also Emma Snodgras from her husband, Harry E. The latter was restored to her maiden name of Emma McLaughlin.

"SPOTTERS" IN SALOONS.

A Detective Employed by a Cash Register Company.

Cleveland, Oct. 14.—Many bartenders of Cleveland are in a state of nervous excitement, which has been augmented to a certain degree by the fact that several of them have lost their situations. About two weeks ago a stranger made his appearance in this city. Nobody seemed to know him, but he made a good fellow of himself and spent his money lavishly in the saloons. It now transpires that he was a detective in the employ of a cash register firm, and he was sent here to "spot" bartenders. A few days after he left, the proprietors of a number of saloons received letters from the cash register company, in which were given descriptions of their barkeepers. Notes made by the detective were added stating the time that he had been in the saloons and the amount of money he spent. If the barkeepers rang up the right amount of change they were credited with so doing, and if not they were exposed in the letters. In consequence many bartenders are looking for new positions and there are very few of them who know why they were discharged.

JUDGE COX'S ACTION.

It Is the Talk of the Whole State.

What He Said to a Reporter Who Called on Him at His Home.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 14.—(Special)—The announcement of the defection of ex-Governor Jacob D. Cox from his party was a thunderbolt in the republican camp.

The distinguished gentleman has given intimation that he will next month cast his ballot for Cleveland and Stevenson, and when sought by a reporter, declined to deny the assertion.

Judge Cox's record is a noble one. He is a brilliant barrister, and served with distinction on the bench.

At the opening of the civil conflict he enrolled in the cause and became a General in command of a brigade in West Virginia. He was afterward with Grant, and served with the utmost distinction with the Army of the Potomac, notably at Antietam.

During the latter '60s he was twice elected governor of Ohio by the republican party, and declined a renomination. General Grant, upon his election to the presidency, appointed the distinguished Ohioan to the portfolio of the interior.

After a little more than a year's service in the cabinet Judge Cox resigned. He had differed with the president as to his action in regard to the scandals that were beginning to cast the Grant administration into disrepute.

Though taking no active part, no great political event or meeting of the forces has been complete without the name of Jacob D. Cox in the list of officers.

A press representative interviewed Judge Cox at his home, on Gilman avenue, Mt. Auburn. The Judge was found seated in his library with his daughter reading.

Judge Cox is tall and slender, his 60 and odd years having failed to bend his arrowy figure. His curt beard is not wholly grayed, and his eye has lost none of its piercing.

"I do not speak of political matters," said the Judge, evasively, "since I am so completely out of public life. All my energies are concentrated on my duties as dean of the Cincinnati Law school."

"But you will surely say, Judge, whether or not you have determined to vote for Cleveland. I understand such to be the case."

Judge Cox smiled.

"No," said he. "It is very nearly election time, and I can see no necessity for saying anything to the public. If I cared to do so I could doubtless have space in many of the newspapers of the land, or an opportunity to make a speech, but I prefer to say nothing to influence others in either direction.

"My part is passive. I am in private life, and I shall exercise the undeniable right of the American citizen to do as he pleases and hold his own counsel. I have taken no pains to spread any such rumor, and the information with which you seem to be armed is surprising to me."

"You do not deny that you will vote for Cleveland?"

"I certainly do not, sir. I hope you will not urge me further. Since I do not pretend to be a political power, you have no right to insist."

And from other sources it has been learned that Judge Cox has been dissatisfied with the republican tariff policy for a long time, and that his action comes of long and careful study.

The lines upon which his conversion came about are much the same as those which brought about the determination of ex-Attorney General Wayne MacVeagh, of Philadelphia, to announce himself for Cleveland.

ASPHALT STREETS

Engage the Attention of the Council Committee.

The Fulton Street Fight—Bids Rejected—Jefferson Street To Be Re-Paved.

The council committee on streets met last night and indulged in considerable talk, especially in the matter of asphalt paving, over which such a contest has been recently raging.

This fight arose over the letting of the contract for paving Fulton street with asphalt from Bancroft to Webster street. Heretofore all of the asphalt paving in the city has been put down by the Warren-Scharf Paving company. But on this street H. P. Streicher was the lowest bidder. He said that he proposed paving the street with land asphalt, and at once objections were raised. The other asphalt pavements in the city are made of Pitch Lake asphalt, and the controversy over the durability of the two pavements resulted in a committee of councilmen making a trip to Detroit and New York.

The committee meeting last evening was the first that has been held since this junket, and the members were loaded to the brim with information about asphalt paving.

A petition from property owners on Fulton street was presented, asking that all bids be rejected and the work readvertised.

When this was read, H. P. Streicher addressed the committee and objected to any such action. He also stated that since the last meeting he had made arrangements to use Pitch Lake asphalt.

Several property owners were also present and they urged their petition. Mr. C. A. Fleccher stated that in Detroit the asphalt paving was being put down for $1.90 per foot, while this bid is $2.49. They wanted the benefit of competition in lower prices.

After a half hour's discussion along this line the bids were rejected, on motion of Mr. Osborne, and the clerk was instructed to readvertise the work.

The report of the committee which visited Detroit and Toledo was then read, and it declared very favorably for lake and rock asphalt, but stated that land asphalt had proven a failure wherever put down.

A resolution was approved to pave Sixteenth street from Washington to Adams.

City Solicitor Read reported to the committee that Paul Raymond has commenced suit in the common pleas court to compel the city to show cause why certain obstructions have not been removed from Lucas and Thirteenth streets. These obstructions consist of a squatter's shanty and several piles of lumber. As it is clearly the duty of the city to keep the streets clear, the street commissioner was instructed to remove the obstructions.

A resolution was approved to pave Jefferson street from Superior to Collingwood avenue, the work to be let in two sections, Eleventh street to be the dividing line.

In answer to a petition from property owners on Dorr street, from Lenk street to the city line, the bids for paving that street were rejected and the clerk instructed to readvertise the work.

Articles Signed for a Battle To Be Fought at the Coney Island Club.

New York, Oct. 14.—The Coney Island Athletic club has succeeded in signing Joe Goddard and Peter Maher for a fight to a finish with four ounce gloves, Marquis of Queensberry rules, for a purse of $7,500, the fight to take place sometime next month under the auspices of the club at the club house on Coney Island. It was announced last night that Goddard's manager had accepted an offer from the Eldorado company to meet Maher on Thanksgiving day, but this was denied by Secretary Eckhard of the Coney Island club.

Chicago, October 14.—Tommy Ryan writes to the Herald from Mt. Clemens, Mich., to deny the statement in a recent Detroit dispatch that he was whipped by Jack Collins. Ryan never fought Collins, but sparred two friendly settos with the Michigan man. Further than that Ryan has never been defeated and has backing to meet any fighter with whom he cares to make a match.

There will be an interesting time at the Toledo Athletic club's rooms to-night. The occasion is a benefit for Frank Kelly and Jack Dempsey, and should be well attended.

Among those who are to take part in the exhibition are: Jack Mussell, Wm. Hearty, Ed Sullivan, Jack Mullens, Bob Roberts, Frank Sherer, Billy Wallace, Billy Fletcher, Jack Foster, the three Kelley's and L. W. Shelley. The entertainment is to wind up with a six-round go between Jack Dempsey and Charlie Brown.

The Cleveland Leader has this sound talk:

All suppositions as to what Cleveland and Boston may do on the strength of what they have done this season are not worth the powder to blow them up. The uncertainties of base ball are such that should Cleveland start out with luck and fair playing it might win the contest in a walk. The converse is just as true of Boston. Then, again, each team may get the rattles and scores pile up amazingly high. Put no faith in comparisons and 'sich,' for the quality of the glory to be won next week may make heroes or weaklings of them all. It will be a week that will create sad havoc with the noble army of "rooters," for nerves will be strung to their highest tension.

POWERS AND HIS COMPANY

Are Evidently Not Appreciated by Toledoans.

A Bang Up Performance at Wheeler's Last Evening—The Texas Steer To-Night—Coming Attractions.

James T. Powers played to a small audience last evening at Wheeler's. The piece was good—first-class. Some jim-crack vender of cheap comedy will come along and pack the theater. Its a wonder good actors and managers who aim at high class performances don't become discouraged. But then, never mind, Powers has come and gone. He brought a company of clever people with him. His comedy is bright, clean, amusing and above all is a comedy. There were no specialties or variety people mixed in. Powers himself is fascinating. His audience can't help but like him. He's as handsome, easy and very, very funny. He talks a little too fast, but one soon gets used to that, and then, perhaps, it only arises from a desire to prevent the action from lagging. Peter F. Dailey makes a hit equal to the star. They are a peculiar combination—two men who can make fun without resorting to wigs, grease paint and comedy trousers. Louis Sylvester, who has no superior as eccentric old women, Rachel Booth, a young lady well-known and well liked by theater goers, Rose Cooke, who is making one of the hits of the show, and some dozen other actors and actresses of equal merit made up the company.

The Texas Steer.

The sale of seats for The Texas Steer at Wheeler's has been very large for this evening, consequently a large audience will witness one of the best of Hoyt's many good productions. Tim Murphy and Flora Walsh head the company and the support is very strong. The piece will be presented to-morrow evening also.

The Frohman Company.

The Charity Ball will be given at Wheeler's opera house on Thursday, October 20, by Daniel Frohman's company from the New York Lyceum. On Friday night the same company will appear in The Wife. Both plays are familiar here, and will be given in the excellent manner which characterizes all the Frohman productions.

The Fast-Mail.

Next week The Fast-Mail will be at the People's, with all its scenic and mechanical effects and a company of strong people. McCarthy's One of the Bravest company is giving excellent satisfaction this week.

BAD MEN.

They Had Burglar Tools and Dynamite With Them.

Mascoutah, Ill., Oct. 14.—At the college town of Lebanon, on the Ohio & Mississippi railroad, yesterday was discovered a plot to blow up a number of business houses.

Five strangers, suspected of being the plotters, were arrested.

A full set of safe blowers' tools and a quantity of dynamite were found in the satchels of the prisoners.

It is believed to be the same gang that attempted to blow up houses in Bunker Hill some time ago and shot an alderman who attempted to arrest them.

BOY INCENDARIES.

They Are Charged With a Terrible Crime.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 14.—Martin Leahy, aged 10, and Thomas Ledwith, aged 9, were arrested last night for setting fire to Hascom's shipyard a few nights ago.

The police are certain that they can trace the big fire at the Holcomb carriage factory early in July to these little fellows and seven other boys whose names are withheld for a purpose.

The loss at the Holcomb fire was over $50,000. The boys arrested have made a confession, but the police will not talk as to its nature.

INDIANS.

They Promise to Make Trouble for a Company.

Boise City, Idaho, Oct. 14.—Word was received here yesterday from Banner's Ferry that the Kootenai Indians would probably make serious trouble in that county on account of the diking of the Kootenai river by an English company. The other day a band of 20 Indians, all fully armed, went to the workmen and demanded that they quit work on the dike. The agent went on the ground and tried settle the matter, but so far has not succeeded. The Indians say they will shoot any one who attempts to resume the

GETTING INTO SHAPE.

Meeting of Columbus Day Arrangements Committee

At the Mayor's Office—Program As Mapped Out, With the Music—Everybody Invited to Make the Affair a Success.

The general committee on arrangements for the Columbus Day celebration met last evening at the Mayor's office, with a good attendance. Col. Austin, jr., presided.

Satisfactory reports were made by all of the sub-committees. The matter of finances was of course the most interesting. About $1,000 have been subscribed, but there is need of fully an additional thousand. Every arrangement costs money, and there ought to be very little difficulty in securing all funds necessary. The returns will be sure. There are evidences that a great throng of people will visit Toledo next Friday. The railroads have reduced the rates to low figures, and viewing the celebration as a business venture alone, it will pay. But the patriotic view takes precedence, and Toledoans, always at the front, will not now fall behind.

The committee on program reported having invited Gen. W. H. Gibson, of Tiffin, to deliver the address of the day. A misunderstanding as to this matter prevailed. The committee was of the opinion that Mayor Emmick had waited on Gen. Gibson and secured his consent. The mayor, however, was compelled to go to Texas and the invitation was not forwarded. Although a little late, the hope is strong that Gen. Gibson will honor Toledo's requisition for the occasion.

The musical part of the program has been arranged as follows, to be interspersed in the proper place:

Kellar's American hymn—High school chorus, under direction of Prof. W. A. Odgen.

Star Spangled Banner—St. Patrick's school chorus, led by Prof. J. B. Poulin.

Hail Columbia—Toledo Maennerchor, led by Prof. Jos. Wylli.

My Country 'Tis of Thee—All school children and the audience, led by Prof. Ogden.

Rev. Dr. Williams will offer the opening prayer, and Rev. Father Hannin will pronounce the benediction.

The general committee adopted a resolution fixing the limit of age for boys at 9 years to participate in the parade. The girls of the schools will gather at the High school grounds, and at the conclusion of the parade will be escorted by an aide from Col. Bunker's staff to the Court House park, to be in place for the exercises.

Col. Bunker, the grand marshal, reported that the parade would move promptly at 2 o'clock. He expected to announce the line of march in Saturday's papers. Col. Bunker is anxious to hear from every society in the city who will participate, and he again extends a cordial invitation to all organizations.

Mr. John Gunckel reported as to the fireworks. They will be the finest for the money invested ever given in the city. The display will take place on the river below the Pennsylvania bridge.

Capt. Charles Hubbard was appointed to take charge of the naval display, and those who know the Captain's capabilities will rest assured that this feature is in the proper hands.

Superintendent Compton detailed the arrangements as to the street cars. The managers of the Consolidated and Robison lines have agreed to issue free tickets for the pupils of all the outlying schools, and the same will be in charge of Mr. Compton and Father Hannin.

Mr. Clemons, representing the colored people of Toledo, brought up a matter which elicited approval at once. He said that if the committee would appropriate $25, the colored people would pay the rest of the expense incident to the preparation of a float which would show the progress of the race up to the present time. The amount was voted cheerfully.

Several minor matters were discussed, and adjournment taken until next Tuesday evening at the mayor's office.

Columbia Day Notes.

The O. Y. C. will talk about the river display to-night.

School pupils are to rendezvous at the High school grounds.

The parade will be reviewed from the band stand on Madison street.

Get the bunting ready for the decorations. Hang the banners on the outer wall.

Col. Bunker affirms that the parade will move at 2 o'clock, if he starts alone.

Reduced rates have been made on all the railroads, and excursions will be numerous.

In the event of rain, it is expected the program of exercises will be held at Memorial hall.

More interest ought to be taken by Toledo merchants in the industrial feature of the parade.

The Traveling Men's association will turn out in a body, and expect nearly a thousand in line.

Rev. S. D. Hutsinpiller and Father Hannin are constant in attendance at the committee meetings.

The county commissioners this morning cheerfully granted the use of Court House park for the public exercises.

Seven thousand persons have already been reported to Col. Bunker. This does not include the school pupils.

Mayor Emmick is expected home to-morrow, when he will be put to work on securing the thousand dollars yet needed.

John Gunckel came to the rescue on the fireworks display in his usual vigorous style.

Prof. Ogden desires the members of the class of '92 to assist in singing Kellar's American hymn at the opening of the exercises.

The finance and general committees would feel better if another thousand dollars were placed at the disposal by the people of Toledo.

It is peculiarly appropriate that Toledo's oldest and most honored clergymen, Rev. Dr. Williams and Father Hannin, should conduct the religious feautre of the public exercises.

RETURN OF THE SEA LION

A Sealer Back From the Far Away North.

She Battled With the Waves and Then Had to Fight the Law Officers.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 14.—The sealing schooner Sea Lion came into port yesterday. Capt. Bucholz said he had decided to start for home when off Bering island on September 13. On the afternoon of the 15th it began blowing a gale and by night the storm was terrific. On the morning of the 16th, he said, they shipped a sea which carried away six sealing boats and flooded the cabin, spoiled stores and nearly filled the vessel, which labored fearfully and drifted north.

On the 25th, she made Sand Point. The captain went ashore and explained to Deputy Collector Bullock the condition his vessel was in, but declared he would not enter port if at all liable to seizure.

With his concurrence the Sea Lion went in. Having been repaired the schooner came off and on the same day the Fur company's schooner entered port with orders to have any vessels seized that had transferred skins to the steamer Coquillon.

In consequence the Sea Lion was seized on September 28. Deputy Marshal Todd being placed in charge. On the night of the 29th another heavy gale sprang up and the Sea Lion began dragging her anchor.

It at once became evident that the schooner must either drift ashore or be put to sea at once.

Deputy Todd was told to either go ashore or make up his mind that he was going to sea. The captain offered him his dory and a lantern to guide him to shore, which was about 1,000 yards off. This he accepted and the Sea Lion soon after put to sea.

The captain declares that the seizure of his schooner was a downright robbery. The Sea Lion bears marks of having had a terrible experience. She has as season's catch 1,934 skins, taken on the Russian side. The steamer Coquillon has discharged her sealskins and goes to Vancouver this morning.

A BOOKKEEPER GOES WRONG.

Perry Dirth Steals From a Young Girl That He May Gamble.

Perry Dirth, aged 22 years, bookkeeper for the Toledo Brick company, was in police court to-day under the charge of larceny. His case is a sad one. He is an orphan, and was brought up in an orphans' home. Becoming old enough to work he went out into the world and got along finely. He rose from one position to another, and had the entire confidence of his employers and friends until he fell in with a swift crowd and took to gambling. As usual, he lost, and resorted to theft for money to blow in. He was convicted to-day of stealing money from a young lady at his boarding house in East Toledo. He broke down in court, and pleaded so hard, promising to give up drink and bad companions, that he was let off with a fine of $20 and costs.

FREDERICK MARTIN KILLED

On the Lake Shore Near Curtis Street Bridge this Mornin.

This morning Frederick Martin, a man 62 years of age, residing at the corner of Junction avenue and Buckingham street, and employed as a watchman at No. 3 elevator, was walking on the Lake Shore tracks near the Curtis street bridge. A train of freight cars was backing up the track, and an express was coming along another track. Evidently the man was giving his attention to the express and did not notice the freight as he did not make any effort to get off the track. The men on the train that was backing down on him called, but he did not seem to hear them, and before the engineer could slow up Mr. Martin was struck and killed.

Coroner Beckwith was called and the remains were taken to Birkencamp's undertaking establishment. The inquest is being held this afternoon.

WITH A SHOT GUN,

Harvey Jackey Peppers Away at His Wife.

Harvey Jackey, of Troy street, was given a dose in police court this morning and deserved three times as much. His wife is a good, hard working woman, who helps support the family. Jackey has abused her shamefully for some time. Wednesday evening while some friends were at the house he commenced scolding her and finally going to a corner picked up a loaded shot gun. The terrified woman fled into the bed room. He followed, raised the gun, pointed it at her and pulled the trigger.

One of the guests with presence of mind knocked the barrel up with his arm and the charge of shot crashed through the partitions. It was almost a miracle that saved the woman's life.

Jackey was given $55, and the costs and 40 days in the work house.

GOING DOWN THE HILL.

Old Age Creeping on Shows Itself in Lack-Lustre Eyes and Trembling Hands—Many Who Are Old in Years are Vigorous and Healthy—How Such a Condition may be Encompassed by All.

How many elderly men and women we see who plainly show they are "going down the hill." The trembling hand, the uncertain step, the lack of brightness in the eye, the shrunken features, all indicate that life is not at high tide, that the strength and vital forces are not what they were, and in fact, that they are going down the hill. This, of course, is to be expected, for when one reaches later years, physical troubles are sure to come, but how many elderly people we see are healthy, happy and comparatively vigorous. They always seem cheerful, bright, contented. Why should not all be equally fortunate? It certainly is possible. Every elderly man and woman needs to gently assist nature, all the while needs to take some pure stimulant regularly. Every doctor in the land admits this, and its common sense must be manifest to all. It should not be understood, however, that any ordinary stimulant would be recommended. It must be something pure, powerful, health-giving and strength-imparting. Such a stimulant can be found only in Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. It is the only medicinal whiskey in the market. Its wonderful popularity is due entirely to its power and what it has accomplished. Any elderly man or woman through its use may certainly preserve the health, and may reasonably expect to prolong the life. Do not be induced, however, to try any inferior article or any which the druggist or grocer may seek to put in its place. There is nothing which can accomplish the same object.

A Chicago man says, in all seriousness, that he was once living in a hotel in the windy city where the custom was chiefly that of traveling drummers who were accustomed to being called at all sorts of hours. One night he had just reached his room when a terrific storm burst over the city and three distinct claps of thunder sounded close to the hotel. Said he: "Every man in the house sat up, yawned and shouted, 'I hear you. All right.'"

Quite a number of members of the British house of lords who are credited with being aristocrats are not. They are merely nobles. The present Lord Brassey is the son of a man who began life as a day laborer. Lord St. Leonards is the grandson of a barber. Lord Battersea and Lord Playfair ae not aristocrats. On the other hand, there are innumerable families in England and Scotland whose pedigree can be traced for centuries through a genealogical tree without a missing or a doubtful limb, yet whose ancestors were not above the grade of gentlemen. Members of these families are not titled, and yet they belong to the aristocracy. In France and Germany, as the Marquise de Fontenoy has pointed out, it is the same way. In Germany you will find the Duke So-and-So and the Prince This-and-That who are not boffabig (not presentable at court). On the contrary there are gentlemen having no title whose ancestry and pedigree make them lofelfahig, which is to say that they are eligible and worthy to associate with royal personages, or literally speaking worthy to sit at the royal table.

The Natural Way Is the Safest.
Nature has an antidote for every ill that human-kind is heir to. Some are still to be discovered, but the world's standard remedy for fatty degeneration, rheumatic gout, constipation, indigestion, offensive breath etc., is Nature's Remedy, pure and simple, and is called Carlsbad Sprudel Salts, the evaporation of the Carlsbad Water, bottled by the city of Carlsbad for American use. The genuine have the signature of "Eisner & Mendelson Co., N. Y., Sole Agents," on every bottle.

FINE WORK ON PULLMAN CARS.

The Wood Finished So as to Withstand Sudden Changes in Temperature.

The man who travels much in a Pullman sleeper, or for that matter in the best class of coaches, can but be impressed with the absolute perfections to which manufacturers like the Pullmans have brought the art of cabinet making. The cars are subjected to strain, jostle and every sort of a movement likely to undo the cabinet-maker's joints. They are overheated and underheated. They know all degrees of temperature within a very few hours. For example, instances are not exceptional on the Northern Pacific where a car leaves Portland with the temperature 40 degrees above zero and reaches Fargo three days later with the temperature indicating 40 below, and vice versa. And yet, the Mississippi Valley Lumberman says, a drawn joint, a split panel or a shrunken casing is rarely seen. The makers of the railway carriages evidently know how to dry the hardwoods which they use in car building. They know how to put a piece of lumber in place and to make it stay there. They know how to put a finish on it that stands all sorts of hard usage.

Parenthetically it may be said that the builders of the Pullman cars keep fairly in advance of the styles which from time to time make their appearance in the furniture sold in this country. Very little equally good work is done by the sash and door men and the builders of interior finish. The makers of office desks do not succeed much better. What man who has built a house and stipulated that the hardwood in his mantles and his doors should be bone dry has not found it necessary to have the doors sent to the factory to be remade and his house invaded by carpenters and finishers from time to time? How many men have sworn at the men who made his roll top desk because the panel split, the drawers would not pull out and the top persisted in catching at the most inopportune time? Mr. Pullman may compel us to pay a very good price for the luxury of his sleeping cars, he may force us with the porter's assistance to pay the porter for what we have previously paid Mr. Pullman, but we cannot but admire the perfection of his cabinet work, the taste displayed in the choice of the best cabinet woods and the work that he is doing in educating the public taste to the quiet and unobtrusive things in finish.

There is a touch of humor in the fact that mosquito and musket are from the same root, the Latin word for fly. One comes through the Spanish mosca, a fly; the other probably through the Italian. The popular notion that the Mosquito coast of Central America gave name to the Jersey pest is probably an inversion of the true sequence.

THE BEST IS THE CHEAPEST!
Official Test of Rubber-Lined Cotton Fire Hose by the Board of Fire Commissioners of Duluth, Minn., February 25, 1892.

The Board of Fire Commissioners of the city of Duluth, Minn., recently received proposals from manufacturers of fire hose to furnish the city with additional hose for fire department service.

Owing to the fact that every agent present upon that occasion, claimed to represent the ONLY brand of hose that could be depended upon to discharge the greatest quantity of water, all other conditions being equal, the commissioners finally resolved to satisfy themselves, and declared in favor of having a public test. Manufacturers who desired to enter the test were requested to furnish 500 feet of hose, with Duluth fire department couplings attached.

Seven competitors entered the field. Each line of hose—500 feet—was attached to a steam fire engine, and subjected to a water pressure of 200 lbs. to the square inch, and discharged water through 1 1-8-inch smooth bore nozzle. Note the result:

Name of Company	Brand of Hose.	Weight of Hose per Section	Effective Pressure at Nozzle.	Gall'ns Discharg'd per Minute	Ratio in Gals Discharg'd per Hr.	No of gal less per hr. than discharg'd by the surprise hose.	Elongation of Hose.

Boston Woven Hose Co	Boston Fire Jacket	52 lbs	79 lbs	327	19 620	1920	27 ft

Owing to a high wind prevailing during the test, the distance reached by each stream was not taken into consideration.

The "Surprise" hose not only showed the best results at the nozzle but delivered the greatest quantity of water, and stretched less than any other hose that entered the test.

Surveyor—William G. Root.

The next registration day is Thursday, October 20.

If the full vote shall be polled in the Ninth district Bryon Ritchie will have one thousand majority .

There is every reason to believe that Byron Ritchie will be elected. He is making a winning campaign and favorable reports are received from every county.

Argentina has a new president, a new cabinet and an eight-millions deficiency in its treasury. Now, to be happy, she wants official recognition of the United States government.

Whitelaw Reid is still warning his fellow republicans of "over-confidence." He hasn't made observations of some of their recent frantic antics which betray anything but over-confidence.

The declaration that ex-Governor J. D. Cox will vote for Cleveland gives the republican managers in Ohio a severe political chill. This notable conversion is a striking evidence of the sure slump of the republican vote even in Ohio.

Denver has had a regular metropolitan blow-out, a blizzard, with all its accompaniments. It swept other portions of Colorado and Wyoming. This is nothing to what will happen in November. The storm in the west has been long brewing and indications multiply, of an outbreak.

And now, in the light of recent developments in the courts, will any citizens cry "ripper," when thinking men propose reforms in the methods of city government? A board of responsible officers, paid for their services and held strictly accountable, as the Bee has repeatedly suggested and urged, is the best "ripper" and method of reformation.

Rehearsing the disgraceful pension-ruling affair, in which Assistant Secretary Bussey attempts to make a scapegoat of Clerk George Baber, the Philadelphia Record voices the sentiment of the honest people of the country (not too prejudiced to see) when it says: "The sharp thorn of public indignation will prick the pension office bubble some day, in spite of the protection which it receives from high officials."

A standing challenge for a joint debate between Hon. M. D. Harter and either Gov. McKinley or John Sherman is published by the democrats in the Fourteenth district. It is singular that McKinley on the tariff question and Sherman on the currency question are afraid to meet Mr. Harter in debate. On those subjects Sherman and McKinley are recognized republican authority. Their silence displays cowardice or self-knowledge of certain defeat in a tilt with the distinguished plain-spoken democratic congressman.

The New York court of appeals sustains the legislative apportionment law which every republican court into which the case was taken declared unconstitutional. The court of appeals is the court of last resort. Thus the democratic state of New York is to be fairly represented in the legislature and in the United States senate. When Senator Hiscock's term expires, next year, David B. Hill will have a democratic running mate in the senate.

Absent from Washington to look after Harrison votes in Indiana: United States Treasurer Nebeker, D. P. Leibhardt, Chief of the Dead-Letter Office, Capt. White, a chief in the pension office; Commissioner of Immigration Owen, Third Auditor Hart, Judge Chaney of the department of justice, United States Marshal Ransdell and his deputy, John Leonard, and Deputy Comptroller Nixon.

Bigger guns, as secretaries and the like, are announced to appear, later. This is in accord with President Harrison's "civil service" pledges.

Andrew Carnegie, the greatest living (or dead) example of what government protection can do for a man, has been saying in England that "free trade is England's best policy; protection would be ruinous." This rather takes the wind out of the sails set to prove that "free trade ruins any country, look at wrecked and ruined England!" Mr. Carnegie says, a new country, like the United States, needs to protect its industries, especially its iron and steel. But other apostles of protection set forth how our machinery and other manufactures are able to drive England out of the world's market because we can undersell her. And yet, when we can compete with England with her cheap raw material and "pauper labor," even in her own market, we still need to put on a tax on home buyers to protect the manufacturer. According to every showing the manufacturer, like Mr. Carnegie, is pretty fatly fixed.

SHAMEFUL SQUABBLING.

The country may wish, before the end comes, that it had never thought of a Columbian memorial exposition. The same jealousy, spite, gossip, wire-pulling, undermining and over-reaching that obtains in an amateur village entertainment, multiplied by a large quantity with politics added, threatens the home department of the prospective world's fair. The abuse of Congressman Breckenridge by the Chicago press, that he is not wanted for an orator of the occasion because he voted with his conscience and to represent his constituency on the appropriation question, has roused the state of Kentucky, "irrespective of party," to declare it will wash its hands of the whole business and stay at home and mind its own business.

The Ohio work is behind and dragging because committees cannot act in unison. It appears that the people need more the spirit of justice, kindness, and better manners, than they need a world's fair. It is humiliating to confess that the "Yankees" are so unchivalrous and tricky they cannot trust one another individually, and, collectively, are the butt of jest and denunciation.

A NATIONS DISHONOR.

The complete exposition of the fraudulent dealing of the United States government with the North American Indians in Helen Hunt's "Century of Dishonor," has, in no wise, reformed the methods of such dealing. The disgrace is not perceptibly felt and the merry war goes on unchecked. The latest leaf is just turned in this infamous history and adds one more scandal to the present reckless administration.

Capt. Lee, of the army, through the report of Gen. Miles to the Secretary of War, charges that the contract for the recent purchase of the lands of the Arapahoe and Cheyenne Indians "was tainted with fraud and bribery from its incipiency to its final consummation." Capt. Lee, acting under orders, made thorough investigation of the matter before he entered this charge in the report and says he is ready to stand by and prove the truth of it.

Congress, last April, voted a million and a half dollars in payment to the Indians mentioned, for their lands. Under the contract, the four attorneys who received the money from the government for the Indians retained the sum of $67,000 for themselves. The contract was made with the approval of Secretary Noble, and when the Indians fully comprehended its meaning, they entered complaint of overcharge. This enormous fee, Capt. Lee asserts, "was obtained by misrepresentation and fraud."

Secretary Elkins sent the important report to Secretary Noble, of the Interior, who made cutting reply that "the matter was no concern of the war department and it (the w. d.) would do well to attend to its own business." This letter was forwarded to Gen. Miles, whose respect for Secretary Noble will probably be greatly increased by it.

Honest persons who do not understand the "legal process," wonder why four attorneys at $16,750 apiece, are necessary to go between the "wards of the nation" and their guardian, Uncle Sam, in the matter of simple sale and purchase? The same as honest persons wonder why pension shark lawyers should "earn" hundreds of thousands of dollars apiece, in a few years, in the collection of pensions for the old soldiers.

No blacker chapter in the history of any country was ever written than the history of the dealings of this government with the Indians. Canada, with the same conditions of peoples and lands to deal with, has no such record of rapacity on the one hand and revenge on the other. If the Christian's God whom we assume to believe has this country under His especial watchfulness, is a God of justice, and penalty follows national sin as it follows individual transgression, then is the country doomed to as sure and sad disaster as overtook the republic in whose dissolute footsteps it seems to be following.

In the meantime, how will Secretary Noble meet this charge of "fraud and bribery;" the contract made with his knowledge and supervision?

PRESTON C. HUDSON.

Democratic Candidate for Common Pleas Judge.

Probably no man in the city has a stronger hold upon the sincere regard of the working people than Mr. Hudson. For a long time he was owner of a half interest in the Oblinger Printing company, and when Mr. Oblinger died, about two years ago, Mr. Hudson was obliged to take personal charge of the office, until the whole business could be reorganized. His treatment of his employes was so liberal and kind that they will never forget him. He seemed to be interested in them, and in their families and was always quietly contributing for somebody's comfort or relief.

He is a hard worker and always at his office at 6 o'clock in the morning. When asked why he was out so early, he replied: "It does my heart good to see this great army of men and women going to their work. I wish everybody had constant employment and good wages."

As a lawyer, in the truest and best sense of the word; that is, a man who is thoroughly learned in all that is written in the books, he has not a superior in Toledo, but he excels as a counselor and brief maker, not as a trial lawyer.

Mr. Hudson is not only a very learned lawyer, but he is a literary scholar. He spent six years in a course of hard study at Ann Arbor and graduated from the University of Michigan with high honors in the class of 1871. Two years later the university conferred upon him the degree of Master of Arts, and he was admitted to the bar in 1872.

Some of the finest literature ever published in this country has been written by him and published anonymously.

His essay on "Industrial Education," read originally before the New Century club, of Toledo, about three years ago, had a wonderful circulation, and has been highly commended by the most learned scholars, as the truest and best exposition of practical education, and educational reform, ever published. His style is characterized by remarkable terseness. Very few writers can say so much in so few words, and that is the direct result of his style of thought. His mind is analytic and almost intuitively grasps the central thought, and strips off all unnecessary verbiage.

His paper entitled "A Lawyer's Logic," on the suffrage question, published about eight years ago, is a perfect model of logical accuracy and terseness, and was circulated from Maine to California, at least ten editions being required to meet the demand.

He has also written about one hundred fables, under the nom de plume of Aesop Second, which are gems of literature and soon to be published in book form. One of them, entitled "The Fox that Sold His Tail," published two years, is a most scathing satire on bribery.

If the people should ever elect Mr. Hudson, as proposed, they will have a learned, honest and hard working judge. Politically he is a democrat, a perfect enthusiast on the subject of tariff reform, and his name on the democratic ticket gives it great additional strength.

SOCIALISTS.

They Have Hard Times Getting Into London.

London, Oct. 14.—The Berlin correspondent of the News says: "A meeting of the employes of tramway and omnibus companies, held last night, is notable as the first attempt of the socialists to penetrate the ranks of those men.

The meeting was addressed by Herr Bebel, who denounced the inadequacy of the wages paid the men, the fines imposed upon them and the shameless system by which they are made dependent upon public tips for a livlihood.

He urged the men to organize and assert their rights. In spite of his assurances of the support of the whole working population, it was only with difficulty that nine men could be induced to form a committee to found a social democratic trade union.

It was evident that the men feared the consequences of combining with the socialists.

CAUGHT IN THE ACT.

A Young Clerk, Henry Bierbaum, of This City,

Has Been Tapping His Employer's Safe.

The Depredations Have Been Going on for a Year—He Was Caught Last Night by a Detective and Arrested.

Last evening a young man, who has been a long and supposedly faithful employe, was caught in the act of tapping his employer's safe. The young man is Henry Bierbaum, who resides at 2214 Vermont avenue, and works for the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, at 338 Summit street, of which Anthony Wind is the superintendent.

The depredations have been going on for a year, but so cleverly did the young man work that the losses were not discovered until lately. After sums were missed it was not known where the leakage was, but it was evident to the management that the bank account was not keeping up to what it ought with the business the company was doing.

It was not for a moment thought that the money was being taken from the safe, as no one knew the combination except the superintendent. Generally the cash was placed in the safe over night without being counted, but one night this week the sum placed in the drawer was ascertained. In the morning $22 was found missing.

The next night the same thing was done with a like result. In this way something like $1,000 has been taken, and probably more. The exact sum cannot be ascertained until the books are run over.

No one suspected young Bierbaum. Even when it was suggested to the management that he might be the man, the idea was scoffed at.

However, the police officials were notified, and last evening a detective hid himself in the office. He had not to wait long before young Bierbaum unlocked the outer door and entered, went directly to the safe, opened it in a jiffy and extracted some money. The detective came out of his hiding place and nabbed him. A more surprised youth would have been hard to find.

The young man was taken to the police station where he broke down and made a clean breast of the matter. He had learned the combination by watching over the superintendent's shoulder, and then at night coming down and practicing on the safe until he struck it. This was about a year ago, and he has been tapping it ever since.

Young Bierbaum, who is about 18 years old, is well connected here, and has borne an excellent reputation. His relatives are trying to settle the matter to avoid prosecution.

It is a most unfortunate affair. The company had every confidence in the young man and would have done well by him. He had plenty of business ability and need not have resorted to such means to secure money. It is thought to have been the result of bad company.

CLEVELAND AND NEW YORK.

He Will Carry the Empire State Dead Certain.

Mr. S. D. Crosby, one of the largest seed merchants in the country, and whose home is in New York city, was a visitor on 'change this morning.

He said New York is solid for Cleveland and he will sweep the state by 60,000 majority.

ON TRIAL.

An Anarchist Before the London Courts.

London, Oct. 14.—Francois, the anarchist arrested at the East End yesterday for complicity in the Rue Magenta outrage in Paris last April, was arraigned in the Bow street police court this morning. He denied that he had been in any way responsible for the wrecking of M. Very's wineshop. "If I had been guilty," he said, "I would have gone singing to the scaffold as did Ravachol."

The detectives who captured Francois testified that his paramour was not less desperate than he in attempts to save him. When they searched the lodgings she came at them with a loaded revolver and was disarmed with great difficulty. Francois was remanded for a week.

SENATOR HILL.

He Makes His Appearance as a Practicing Lawyer.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 14.—Senator David B. Hill made his first public appearance as a practicing lawyer in the court of appeals to-day. The case was that of James A. McDougall and Shirley Brown as administrators against the Provident Life Assurance society of New York, appellants. Senator Hill appeared for the appellants as representing Stanley, Clark & Smith, of New York. His argument was forcible and was listened to attentively by the judges.

BOGUS ELECTIONS.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 14.—The grand jury this morning took action in the alleged attempted steal of the Fifth district of the Nineteenth ward by the democrats last Saturday and has indicted five men. Judge Lambert at once issued bench warrants and the men were arrested. They are charged with violation of the election laws in refusing to permit two republican inspectors of election to act and forcing them out of the booth.

SENTENCE COMMUTED.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 14.—The governor to-day commuted the sentence of Leah Nixon (colored), convicted of murder and who was sentenced to be hanged December 2, to life imprisonment, her testimony having been used as state's evidence to convict Martha Hollis, who is now serving a life sentence in the state penitentiary for complicity in the same case.

BRECKINRIDGE WILL TALK.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 14.—The annual meeting of the Society of the Army of Northern Virginia will be held in the hall of the house of delegates on the night of October 26.

Hon. W. C. P. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, has accepted the invitation to make the annual address. His subject will be "The ex-confederate soldier and what he has done in peace."

MAY BE SETTLED.

Paris, Oct. 14.—The Gaulois expresses the opinion that the Deicon case can be settled before reaching the court of appeals.

STREET CAR TROUBLE.

Tiffin, O., Oct. 14.—(Special)—Joseph A. Beauvias, trustee of the Tiffin Street Railway company, and one of the first mortgage bondholders of that corporation, has been allowed a temporary injunction by Judge Johnson restraining the Electric Railway and Power company from laying a street railway track on Washington street or over any other portion of the first named company's lines.

The company which seeks the injunction is a horse-car system, and they have a dangerous competitor in each of two or three other companies which have been granted franchises to operate electric lines in the city. The horse railway, while a little too slow as regards transit, nevertheless owns the franchises on the principal streets of the city, and there will be no end of litigation now that the first step has been taken.

KILLED BY THE CARS.

Tiffin, O., Oct. 14.—(Special)—Northbound passenger train No. 12, on the Big Four railroad, which leaves this city about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, ran over and killed Mrs. Ephraim Umstead as she was driving across the track near Watson yesterday afternoon. Her little granddchild, Florence, the daughter of Lafayette Umstead, was with her and was fatally hurt. The old lady would undoubtedly have passed the train in safety had she not in a moment of indecision and fright attempted to back the horse and carriage off the track when she saw the oncoming locomotive.

Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—Grain freights continue in good shape, with all boats on the market being taken at 2 1-2 cents for wheat to Buffalo. Slow sales of grain in the east alone prevents big boom in the movement of both wheat and corn.

Buffalo.

Buffalo, Oct. 14.—The coal docks have enough vessels to finish out this week without further chartering and no boats were placed this morning. The rates are firm and unchanged.

Wrecks.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 14.—After pumping out the Martini sunk yesterday at Bar Point and bringing her to dry dock here, wrecker Sagnaw proceeded to the relief of the steamer R. P. Flower, aground at the flats.

It is authoritatively denied that the Detroit dry dock company will build any new steamers for the Ogdensburg Transit company.

At the Crossings.

Lime Kiln, Oct. 14.—Down—Nellie Torrent and barges, 9:30 last night; Onward, Washburn, William Wall, 9:40; MacBrier, Ford, Oregon, Everett, Minch, Viking, Michigan, Downing, 10:15; Christie, Camden, Clyde, Outhwaite, Genoa, 10:40; Colonal, Gawn, King, Wilam Chisholm, 11.

Aground at the Soo.

Sault Ste. Marie, Oct. 14.—The steamer Onoko, bound down, struck at the red stake above the canal. She reached the canal where she struck another shoal and settled to the bottom. She will lighter about 200 tons of wheat. She lies crosswise in the canal. All loaded boats, numbering about 20, have been detained from 10 to 50 hours hours by the low water in the canal. Nothing but southeast winds have blown for four or five days, and there is to-night about 30 boats waiting to lock through. Water is 14 feet 2 inches.

LATE MARKETS.

The receipts of wheat at Toledo to-day are 37,790 bus. in excess of the corresponding Friday in 1891.

The receipts at seven principal western points are 242,020 bus. in excess of Friday in 1891. The receipts of northwest wheat to 102,063 bus., an dat five other points 139,949 bus. in excess of 1891.

If it were not for the outpouring of wheat, as above outlined, the markets might advance. We express no opinion as to whether they will do so, but dealers on the exchange think the movement of wheat the great hindrance to improvement in prices. Two important considerations seem to dominate the markets and hold them nearly steady. One is the daily improvement in English markets, and the other is the effect of the dry weather on the area sown to wheat in the states west Indiana, Illinois, Kanas and Missouri, are much deficient in acreage of wheat sown, and it seems now very late if the drouth should be broken.

It is not a bull symptom that the export movement and the daily sales for export of wheat is high, but we believe both would be increased by and advance in price. We are always anxious for good prices of the products of the country. It means prosperity and active markets. When will they come? We give it up.

The wheat markets have been fairly maintained to-day. Dullness has been a prevailing feature, and the fluctuations in prices have been very narrow and closing about as yesterday.

Corn has been weak. At opening the markets were firm and gained a little, but later became weak and declined.

New York reports 42 loads of wheat sold for export to-day, which is good news.

Foreign markets are nearly quoted as closing higher.

In New York October closed at 78 3-4c; December at 81 1-4c, and May at 87 3-4c, a loss of 1-4c on each. October corn at 49 5-8c, a loss of 1-2c; May at 52 1-8c, a loss of 1-4c.

In Chicago October wheat closed at 73 1-2c, a gain of 1-4c; December unchanged at 76c; May at 81 1-4c, a gain of 1-8c. October corn at 42 1-2c, a loss of 3-4c; May at 45 3-4c, a loss of 1-2c.

In Toledo the wheat market has been dull and with only the usual trading in futures, in which December and May were represented. Prices opened about 3-8c up, but later became weak and closed 1-8c below yesterday. October we quote at 74 1-4c at close, and November at 75c. December opened at 76 3-4 and 76 7-8, and closed at 76 1-4c. May sold at 82 3-4c to 82 7-8c and closed at 82 1-4c. Cash wheat was also dull, and the sales were light. No. 2 soft sold at 74 3-4c and closed at 74 1-4c steady. No. 3 soft at 67 1-2 to 67 1-4c, closing at 67c. In L. S. sales at 68 1-2c. No. 4 soft at 60c to 61c. Rejected 64c to 66c. No. 2 at 50 1-2c to 52c. Mixed No. 2 at 71 1-4c. Red and white at 65. Rye and wheat at 52c. No. 2 hard at 70c. No. 3 at 67c to 66 1-2c. No. 2 white at 72c. No. 3 white at 65c.

Corn—No. 2 at 43 1-2c. No. 2 yellow at 44c. No. 3 yellow at 43c.

Rye—On the call October sold at 57 1-2c. On the regular board, No. 3 at 52c.

Clover seed was fairly active and about steady. Prime for cash at $4.70; October, $6.50; November at $6.50@6.52 1-2; January at $6.67 1-2@6.62 1-2, closing at $6.65; February at $6.67 1-2; March at $6.75; No. 2 at $6.20@6.35.

The receipts of wheat to-day at Minneapolis and Duluth are 642,201 bu. and at five other western points 666,696 bu, total 1,308,900 bu. On the corresponding Friday in 1891 the receipts at the same points were 1,066,880 bu, including 540,193 northwest wheat, leaving as the movement from the five other points 526,747 bu compared with 666,696 bu to-day.

Exports of wheat yesterday at four Atlantic ports were: Wheat, 152,925 bu and flour to an aggregate of 500,000 bu.

English markets are reported herein as higher of rwheat and slightly lower for corn.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

No Go.

To the Editor—There is not any use of denying the fact that the republicans cannot get up the interest they expected to with the smoothly sounding word protection. Even our Gov. McKinley at Fremont yesterday failed to draw a full house, notwithstanding our morning contemporary to the contrary, as our well known townsman, G. W. C. Hadley, was at Fremont on business and the parties he wished to see were at the meeting. Therefore Mr. Hadley concluded to hear the speech and he says there was quite a goodly number of vacant seats and that the audience was fully half women and school children. Oh, it is not of any use to misrepresent, for the handwriting is on the wall. The word protection has lost its power.

WITH THE JURY.

som P. Swain would come in here and make up this story out of whole cloth? The other side will say that he is swearing to keep out of the penitentiary. Gentlemen, is there any reason under heaven why he should come in here and criminate himself, when by coming in here and testifying as the others did, clear himself and the others as well. He tells a clear and connected story, and is the only one of the members of that combination who did."

Daly was instructed to see Robison and report to the club house, and he did report at that meeting, as Mr. Swain goes into detail about.

No, gentlemen, there were ten members of the common council at Fisher's club house. No invitation, no one knew why or what for, but that they simply went out there to have a little time. Why did not they take some of their friends along? Haven't they any friends? When a man goes to have a time, he generally wants some friends along. He does not go off all by himself. Now, Mr. Daly reported that he had seen Mr. Robison and that he would not do anything for the boys. Did not Mr. Robison's testimony corroborate this testimony? If Mr. Swain made up his story, how did he know that Mr. Robison was going to testify this?

Mr. Tracy then passed to the ninth and last meeting held at Neuendorf's store, when Swain testified that the combination broke up on account of rumors that a special session of the grand jury was to be called and that councilmen were to be indicted.

The speaker then turned back and followed the Pluto ordinance pending in the council during the time which these meetings were being held. He showed that it was passed without contention by the board of aldermen. He went with the ordinance from the board of aldermen to the council where it was tabled by vote of members who were in the combination, which was the evening of the day on which the meeting was held at the club house and that the ten members present at that meeting voted solidly to lay the ordinance on the table. He argued also that a recess was taken; by the same vote and for some purpose. He then showed that the very next day Frank Tanner was at the office of the Pluto Oil company. He continued that the fact that Tanner, Gill, and Daly were at the office of the Pluto Oil company was not denied, but that there was a wide difference as to what took place.

Mr. Tracy next established the record as reported by Stenographer Bassett. The defense had endeavored to attack the report, he said, because he could not see the speakers. He stated that the regular court stenographer had taken the conversation during the trial and had not turned to see the speakers; that it was not necessary; that it was a part of the profession to distinguish voices. Mr. Bassett, he stated, had testified that he recognized the voices of Lorenz, Gill, and Tanner, and the only voice he did not recognize was that of Daly. He knew there were four present, and knowing three voices, Mr. Tracy argued that it would be an easy matter to distinguish the strange voice. Mr. Lorenz, he continued, testified that Daly was present, as did the defendant himself, but that he only said four words. The speaker then showed where he took part in the conversation according to his own testimony.

"Gentlemen," said Mr. Tracy, "when the defendant came off that witness stand he had committed a graver crime than one upon which he is on trial at the present time."

"Mr. Daly testified that he took no part in the conversation; that he was walking up and down the office, and did not hear anything that transpired, only now and then something about 'long green,' 'pipe,' '$5,500.' Now, gentlemen, doubtless Mr. Daly did walk up and down. No doubt he was a little nervous. John Daly said 'You put up the $5,500 and we will deliver the votes.' Is there anything about pipe in that expression?"

Following up the stenographic report Mr. Tracy said:

"Gentlemen, you cannot believe that George Bassett would fabricate a report that would jeopardize the liberty of any man. How under heaven the defense is going to get behind this report I do not see, unless they resort to the theory of Mr. Gill, that the stenographer was given an extra five. I do not know whether this will be the defense, but you gentlemen cannot question the truth of this report, taken as it was by George Bassett, a stenographer whose character is above reproach and who stands high in the esteem of all reputable citizens, and who has taken oath as to the genuineness of the report."

Mr. Tracy then referred to Daly going to the phone in the Pluto Oil office, which he said Daly admitted, and then the speaker, to substantiate the stenographic report, stated that if it was a fabrication, Mr. Bassett would not have known that Mr. Daly was at the phone.

Prosecutor Tracy followed out the stenographic report and in conclusion said:

"Gentlemen, Mr. Daly and Mr. Gill have gone too far in denying the stenographer's report. They stand up and under oath deny the conversation in every particular, and the only excuse they make is that the report must have been made up, but when they stand up and under oath deny the question put, as to this conversation, they do not tell the truth and they know it. Now, what is the truth? Does not the stenographer's report corroborate and does not all conditions, and circumstances dovetail in?"

Continuing further, Mr. Tracy stated that the defense would endeavor to show that Machen and Swain were as guilty as Daly; that informer, traitor and spy would be talked of, but that was not the issue; that if August Machen and Ransom P. Swain have committed a crime they would be convicted and punished. But that John Daly was on trial, and his case, and his case alone should be considered.

Continuing, Mr. Tracy said: "Gentlemen, I admit, and you will agree with me, that Ransom P. Swain is in no enviable position, but I would to-day rather be in Ransom P. Swain's shoes when he came into this court and on the witness stand, on his oath told the truth, than to be in the defendant's, John Daly's, shoes, when he went on the stand charged with a crime and directly perjured himself.

In conclusion Mr. Tracy said: "Gentlemen of the state. If I've not presented a case that will convict John Daly of bribery, we might as well tear this statute from the book. If you have any doubt as to John Daly's presence at any of these meetings, if you have any doubt as to whether these meetings were held or not, throw it to one side, take up the stenographic report of the interview at Lorenz's office, and if you do not convict John Daly on the charges made, it can not be done in the state of Ohio under this statute. Gentlemen, I am much obliged to you for your attention." He closed at 10:35.

Mr. Brophy made the opening argument for the defense. He began by describing the difference between criminal and civil prosecution. He quoted the statute to the effect that a person charged with the commission of a crime, is presumed to be guilty until proven guilty, and that the accused must have the benefit of the doubt. He quoted Blackstone in his statement that ten guilty men had better escape than one innocent man escape. He also quoted other authorities on the subject.

In opening he stated that the prosecution was based on meetings, on interviews at Robison's office and at the Pluto Oil office. He said there was no question as to the meetings, but a grave question as to what took place. He doubted Mr. Swain's ability to remember every detail of these meetings held. He said that his memory was too clear as to the details. He said the state had not, shown that John Daly was present at the first meeting. As to the meetings he argued they were held to promote each other's interests; to discuss and commune with each other on the business of the council.

"Supposing," he said, "as the state endeavors to show, that these meetings were held, that an oath was taken, that Faskins was sent out to solicit—that was no crime. Take the evidence of Mr. Robison. I have the greatest respect for David Robison and Jim and Will. Did not Mr. Daly swear that Mr. Robison sent for him? Did not Mr. Robison testify that Mr. Daly had offered to vote for the ordinance, but he did want any pay, that he did not solicit pay? Is that soliciting a bribe? Has any crime been committed up to this time?"

Mr. Brophy then argued that the club house meeting was held in the open air, on the lawn, that if the meeting had been held to conspire, to solicit bribes from corporations, they would not meet in the open air. That Schmuhl, Gill, Taylor and Neuendorf had testified that they had just gone out to have a time.

Proceeding to the interview at the Pluto oil office he stated that after the Pluto Oil company had exhausted all means of procuring the passage of the ordinance they resorted to smirching the characters of those present. He went on to state that evidence showed that Messrs. Machen and Lorenz had offered Mr. Neuendorf money, and as to the meeting he said that any man who would offer money to influence an official vote would go further.

As to the stenographic report, he said that Mr. Bassett testified that he did not report all that was said on account of being unable to hear what was said. He argued that the very part left out, might put an entirely different construction on what had been said. He argued further, that persuasion failed; that the gentlemen could not be bought, and then the officers of the Pluto Oil company concluded to blacken the characters of the councilmen by hatching up a scheme, by which they could obtain a leverage upon the men. He said that some of them might have wanted money, but because one did, was that any sign that others did? Was the jury going to deprive one man of his liberty, wreck a home, because some man committed a crime?

Mr. Brophy concluded at 11:30.

Judge Ritchie opened for the defense by saying that he had been called into the case as the jury had been, on last Saturday, and was for that reason unbiased in his judgment; that he had the same means of knowledge that the jury had, and was therefore able to mutually discuss the case under conditions remote from prejudice other than produced by the evidence of the case.

In the outset Judge Ritchie stated that he did not want the jury to foster the impression that the defense was simply endeavoring to obstruct the trial by its many objections made. He explained that it was necessary to object to certain points to save the exception if the case should be reviewed before a higher court.

The judge then took up the testimony as to the alleged conspiracy. He stated that the testimony of the alleged conspiracy must connect directly with the defendant, John Daly. He said he meant the testimony of Ransom Swain. If his testimony was truthful he committed the same crime, he was an accomplice in the crime, and as an accomplice the jury was not to believe the testimony unless it was corroborative. He said there must have been a motive in Swain's confession.

Gentlemen, he is indicted in the same charge in common with John Daly; that, too, with his statement made to George E. Lorenz on June 29. Then how do we stand? Then he told a story, and being summoned into court, what must he do but come in and tell the same story. Why does he do this? Because he expects a reward, a reward that is more valuable than human reason can conceive—his liberty by the removal of the charges against him.

After the noon recess Judge Ritchie resumed his arguments, taking up the analyzation of Mr. Swain's testimony.

Mr. Tracy says it is more honorable to confess than to deny. I agree with him in part, but think it would be more honorable still not to get into the trouble at all. Two weeks ago Ransom P. Swain was called upon to plead to the charges upon which he was indicted and pleaded not guilty. Now he comes in and confesses his guilt. Is not that denial? Is that consistent? Is his testimony to be taken against that of Gill, Neuendorf, Schmuhl, Taylor and Mr. Daly, five against one? Is the testimony of this one man to be taken against the word of five men, who have lived among you, who have always borne a reputation for honesty and integrity far above reproach? Would it not be unreasonable?

Reaching the offer of Machen of $25,000 worth of Pluto Oil stock to Neuendorf, which the state argued was $5,000 less than the entire stock of the corporation, Judge Ritchie stated that men often offered that which they had not to give, and, as an illustration, told of the offer of Satan to Jesus made on the mountain.

The judge argued that the meetings were consistent and strictly in order. That it was proper enough for the members of the council to get together and discuss pending legislation.

Judge Ritchie was still in the argument as the Bee went to press.

CAP AND BELLS.

Away from our ledgers, and counters and books,
From high metaphysics and art!
The physics we want we shall find in the nooks
Where Nature has opened her heart.

The music we hear shall be clear running brooks
And songs of the birds in the grove;
And pictures we'll see in the sweet, gentle looks
Of sweethearts to whom we make love!

'Tis time to put thinking caps by for repairs,
And legal cap, too, just as well;
The cap now in season is one Folly wears,
With motley apparel and bell.

Its jingle will drive away worries and cares,
And brighten the over-worked brain,
And he will repent his rash action who dares
The cap with the bells to disdain!

Away from the office, the court and the town!
The Tennis Court summons us all
Our suits at the law and the bar to lay down.
To take up her suit and a ball.

A truce to the woolsack, the wig and the gown!
Digestion will better serve now
Than Digest, and laughter and mirth than the frown
Of stern Jurisprudence, I trow.

Then off with the thinking cap, on with the bells!
Be foolish if you would be wise!
For Wisdom a secret to Folly oft tells,
She hides from the wiseacre's eyes.

Our class-rooms shall be blooming valleys and dells,
Our teachers, the birds and the flowers;
And fountains of learning we'll change for the wells
That spring in sweet summer's bright bowers.

NAUTICAL BASEBALL.

For 15 years there have been ball matches between the 'Sconset and the Nantucket nines, writes a correspondent. Generally the 'Sconsets have been the winners. Their players are college students who pass their summers here. The games are witnessed with much interest by the summer visitors. But base ball, the old whaling captains and sailors here never could understand. "Plate," and "base," and "outfield," and "infield," and "shortstop," and "run," and the many words familiar to those who have looked upon the diamond field, to them were little better than so much South Sea jargon, of which they did know something.

The other evening in the 'Sconset club house some of the old captains were discussing the subject. Cap'n Peleg Bunker entered. He had been visiting some relatives in New York and Brooklyn, and, with them, had seen several games of ball played. Catching on to the discussion, he said:

"I know somethin' about this base ball game now."

"How is that?" asked Cap'n Jabez Swain, putting his right hand to his ear in acoustic style.

"Well," said Cap'n Peleg, "perhaps I had better explain it from the beginning. You see, there are nine crafts in each of the two fleets opposed to one another, and each craft on one side tries in turn to sail the course. The crafts in the other fleet try to cut 'thwart hawse and heave him off his course. It is nine ag'in' one all the time."

"What is the course?" asked Cap'n Eben Hussey.

"Oh, I forgot that," said Captain Peleg. "First, the course is laid out from the p'int of departure goin' eight p'ints to starboard six fathoms, where a buoy is placed. They then haul up from the buoy eight p'ints to port, the same distance, and then eight p'ints to port ag'in for six fathoms and there a third buoy is put down, from which it is exactly eight p'ints to port, to the p'int of departure, which is the landing each one makes when he gets back from the cruise."

"Now we're learnin' somethin'," said Captain Ichobod Coffin. "I could always understand a sensible description even if there wasn't any chart handy. But what is the meanin' of a feller striking with a mall capstan bar at a shot when it is fired at him?"

"You're off soundin's," said Captain Peleg. "That isn't a capstan bar; it's a ball club, and it isn't a shot that's thrown, but it is durned near it, for if it hits a man in the diaphragm after takin' his duff it wouldn't make his digestion any better. That's the ball. About half way between the landin' and the second buoy a man stands who throws the ball toward the man who is on the landin' with the club in his hand. He tries to hit the ball as it comes to him and to hit it hard. If he does hit it and doesn't knock it outside the sailin' course between the landin' and the first buoy or between the third buoy and the landin' he puts his helm hard aport, hoists all sail and shapes his course for the first buoy. If one of the craft in the other fleet get the ball before it lands on the ground and the striker has not reached the buoy, or if the craft on the first buoy gets the ball before the runner gets there, the runner is called "out." That means that he's laid up in ordinary and he can't handle the club ag'in until his turn comes around."

"That's plain enough," remarked Cap'n Obed Coleman.

"Then," resumed Cap'n Peleg, "another craft of the same fleet takes the club and tries to sail the course."

"Well," said Cap'n William Paddock, second, "I begin to see through it too. But what do they mean by a 'home run?'"

"I must explain," continued Cap'n Peleg. "When the craft at the landin' hits the ball and starts to sail over the course, if he gets to the first buoy without bein' put out the shapes his course for the second. Then, if he sees the course clear he doesn't come to anchor; he doesn't lay to and back his main yards, but hauls up ag'in for the third, and sometimes he is able to go off on the port tack ag'in and get to the landin'. As I said, when a man gets safe to the landin' it is called a 'run,' and when he makes the whole course without stopping his side logs him a 'home run.' Now, when three men on one side are out the whole fleet is off the hooks and go outside the course, and the other fleet comes into line and the same maneuver is gone through with. Recollect that when a craft on one side starts on a cruise the whole fleet on the other side tries to head him off, and so they have it back and forth."

"How do they know which side beats?" asked Cap'n Zachens Putman.

"Well," said Cap'n Peleg, "each craft has the chance to sail the course nine times, and each time is called an innin', and whichever side makes the most runs beats."

"What is the man back of the landin' who has his face in limbocs, and who carries a paunch mat for'ard and has one of his hands covered with a three-decker mitten?"

"He is called the catcher," said Cap'n Peleg, "and as far as I understand it, a good deal depends on him. For instance, if a ball falls near him an he gets it in his flippers, the striker goes out of commission. If he sees one of the fleet sailing from one buoy to another he tries to land the ball, if he gets it, in the hands of the craft at the buoy towards which the other craft is sailing."

"What is the fellow who heaves the ball to the man with the bar?" asked Cap'n Shubael Chase.

"He's the pitcher," answered Cap'n Peleg. "He must be a fair gunner, too. He must heave the ball above the bulwarks and below the main yard. If he doesn't, a ball is called on him, and when four are called the striker can drift as slow as he wants to the first buoy and take his place there as if he had struck the ball. But the man should strike at a ball properly hove. If for three times he doesn't do so, each time counts as a strike and he must sail for the first buoy just the same as if he had landed the ball 50 fathoms to wind'ard."

"Tell us about the man that stands aft the catcher and everybody treats like a Jimmy Ducks on an English whaler," asked Cap'n Jethro Starbuck.

"He's the umpire," said Cap'n Peleg. "There's a good deal of metaphysics in the game that I don't understand myself I mean nice p'ints that come up. The umpire is supposed to know the chart and to be able to pilot the game over the shoals and through the slews in the rips into deep water. But sometimes when he gives an order there's mutiny in either the port or starboard watch, and sometimes both watches join in abusin' him, and the folks that are lookin' on bear a hand: If he decides one way the other watch tells him that he isn't fit to hold the steerin' oar and that he had better ship on the next cruise as a lubber. I wouldn't steer a game for a quarter of a new ship fitted for a voyage 'round the Horn. I'd rather tackle a 150-barrel bull whale on a landsman's lay than to umpire ball games for a week. I would not ship unless I could pipe enough hands that would help me get the mutineers in irons and put them in the brig."

All present agreed with Cap'n Peleg that there ought to be some way to enforce discipilne.

His explanation of the game was the first they had heard from a man who could talk Nantucket. It was a revelation. They told him so. That they appreciated it highly was seen when each veteran of the sea went to his locker in the clubhouse, took out his bottle of Old Melford rum and put its mouth under Cap'n Peleg's nose.—N. Y. News.

BEAUTIFUL ITALIAN WOMEN.

"The prettiest women in the world are those of Northern Italy," said Henry C. Bartow, who has just completed a trip around the world, and is resting at the Southern. "Pretty is not exactly the word to be used in describing them. A wax doll may be pretty. The women of northern Italy are gloriously, maddening beautiful. They are a mixture of the French gentry and the Italian nobility, and inherit the vivacity of one country and the voluptuous, half oriental beauty of the other. If you want to understand what the poet meant by the 'dark eyes' splendor' go not to the Vale of Cashmere, not to Cadiz, but to Milan. Greece in her palmiest days could not produce such perfect figures, nor Spain such coquettes. Add to unrivalled beauty of face and figure the sweet cadences of the Italian tongue, and I defy any youngster to get away from Milan without regret. Some one has said that Italian is the mother tongue of the Goddess of Liberty; certainly there is nothing swester—it is melody itself."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

THE WHISTLING TREE.

The celebrated musical or whistling tree is found in the West Indian islands, in Nubia and in the Soudan. It has a peculiar sharp leaf, and pods with a slit or open edge. The wind passing through these gives out the sound that has given the tree its odd name. In Barbadoes there is a valley filled with these trees, and when the trade winds blow a constant moaning sound comes from it, which, in the still hours of night, have a very weird and unpleasant effect upon those who hear it.

SINGULAR FACT.

It is a remarkable fact that the specific gravity of hardened steel is less than that of the unhardened, another singular point being that steel, of course, expands with heat, and when it is allowed to cool suddenly—the only way in which it can be hardened, although it contracts very much—it does not quite reach the small size of the unhardened state.

When catarrh attacks a person of scrofulous diathesis, the disease is almost sure to become chronic. The only efficacious cure, therefore, is Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which expels scrofula from the system, and the catarrh soon follows suit. Local treatment is only a waste of time.

The shades of the objects as well as their colors are faithfully reproduced.

THE WINTER GIRL.

She Is Equally as Charming as Her Summer Sister.

"I think it is all nonsense continually singing the praises of the summer girl," said a pretty creature whom, if she only had known it, was herself a typical member of the class she did not wish to hear complimented, "because the girl of the winter is so much sweeter and lovelier in every particular."

The man of the party, who was especially partial to warm-weather maidens, made a faint protest, but was overruled by the little lady, who went on to state the particular attractions of the girl she was defending.

"I know you men are all daft on sunburn and simple gowns, but tell me candidly if a rosy-cheeked, bright-eyed, fair-skinned creature, with her hair in curls, her gown taut and trim as a tailor can make it, and a well-groomed air about her that is wonderfully fetching is not far more lovely than the wind-tossed, frowsy young miss whose gowns are in a bed of wrinkles and whose bang will not stay in curl?"

The picture appeared very attractive to the man, it must be admitted, yet he was not willing to give in, and suggested that beach tete-a-tetes, canoeing, rocking and sundry other little amusements would lack zest if entered into with the precise maiden just described.

"That is so like a man," laughed the girl. "Of course, one couldn't do any of those things in Chestnut street togs, but has it ever occurred to you how sweet and womanly a certain somebody looks in her pretty house gown, with lace ruffles at throat and wrists, presiding at her little tea table, when winds howl without and snow lies deep on the ground. Don't it make you on such occasions actually chilly to think of that great sweep of sandy beach where you used to sit and look unutterable things into the eyes of some girl in a filmy gown? Summer girls are all right, but they should not be allowed to monopolize all the nice things said of our sex, for the winter sister is equally as attractive and far prettier to my way of thinking."—New York Advertiser.

Strictly Pure White Lead
is the Best Paint.

Care is necessary though, to obtain strictly pure, as the market is flooded with so-called Pure White Leads that in reality contain but very little white lead.

The following analyses of two of these misleading brands show the exact proportion of genuine white lead they contain. The analyses describe the labels and brands on the packages and give the contents as follows:

"Lion Brand White Lead. The side label reads as follows: "$100 in Gold. One hundred dollars in gold will be paid if the contents of this package is not pure. For whiteness, fineness, and covering properties it is unsurpassed by any other lead in the market. "Lion White Lead Works, Toledo, Ohio."

Materials	Proportions	Analyzed by
White Lead	12.78 per cent.	Manns &
Sulphate of Lead	3.35 per cent.	Tatarian,
Oxide of Zinc	25.50 per cent.	Chicago.
Barytes	58.30 per cent.

"Masury's Railroad White Lead." White label, marked "Railroad White Lead, 25; pure; John W. Masury & Son, New York and Chicago, warranted superior."

Materials	Proportions	Analyzed by
Oxide of Zinc	55.70 per cent.	Ledoux & Co.,
Barytes	44.30 per cent.	New York.

NOTICE.

Fernando A. Crumb and Lelia Crumb, his wife, whose place of residence is unknown, will take notice that on the 3rd day of September, 1892, Edward D. Moore as plaintiff, filed his petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Lucas County, Ohio, against them and others, the object and prayer of which is to foreclose two certain mortgages made by one William H. England to said Edward D. Moore on lot (25) twenty-five, block (24) twenty-four, Hicks Farm Addition to Toledo, Lucas County, Ohio. One made on the 3rd day of January A. D., 1891, to secure the payment of six promissory notes, each in the sum of $100, all dated January 3, 1891, and payable to said Edward D. Moore or order on the 1st day of July of the years 1892, 1893, 1894, 1895, 1896 and 1897, respectively, with interest from January 3rd, 1891, at six per cent. per annum, to be paid annually. The other mortgage made on the 26th day of March, 1891, to secure the payment of one promissory note of same date for $50, payable to said Edward D. Moore or order on or before two years from the date thereof, with interest from said date at six per cent. per annum, to be paid annually. Said petition alleges that said Fernando A. Crumb holds the legal title to said above described lot subject to the plaintiff's mortgage liens thereon. Said petition prays for the sale of said real estate to pay the sums due on said notes.

Said defendants are required to answer or plead to said petition on or before the 21st day of November, A. D., 1892.

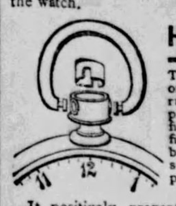
Non-pull-out

is an arbitrary word used to designate the only bow (ring) which cannot be pulled off the watch.



Here's the idea

The bow has a groove on each end. A collar runs down inside the pendant (stem) and fits into the grooves, firmly locking the bow to the pendant, so that it cannot be pulled or twisted off.

It positively prevents the loss of the watch by theft, and avoids injury to it from dropping.

IT CAN ONLY BE HAD with Jas. Boss Filled or other watch cases bearing this trade mark—

All watch dealers sell them without extra cost. Ask your jeweler for pamphlet, or send to the manufacturers.

IRON HALL.

Indictments Against Its Supreme Officers.

They Are Charged With Getting Away With Four Hundred Thousand Dollars.

Indianapolis, Oct. 13.—The Marion county grand jury this afternoon made its final report and returned indictments against the late officers of the Iron Hall:

Froeman D. Somerby, supreme justice, Indianapolis.

Mark S. Davis, supreme cashier, Indianapolis.

J. L. Younghusband, supreme trustee, and chairman of the board, Detroit.

J. Henry Hays, supreme trustees and secretary of the board, Camden, N. C.

C. E. Thompson, supreme trustee, Binghamton, N. Y.

George C. Fountain, supreme trustee, Jersey City, N. J.

E. W. Rouse, supreme trustee, Baltimore.

They are indicted on a charge of embezzlement.

The indictments are joint are in two counts. The first count charges them with the embezzlement of $200,000 of the funds which they converted to their own use. The second count charges them with converting to their own use $200,000 by using it in Somerby's bank at Philadelphia. Necessary papers will be issued and the governor will be asked for requisitions so that the indicted men may be brought in as soon as possible and it may be that Judge Cox will order the arrest of Somerby by wire, asking that he be held until an officer can reach him with the necessary documents to return him to "headquarters" in Indianapolis.

It is likely that Davis will be arrested to-day. As the amount alleged in the indictments to have been embezzled is a large one, it is probable that Judge Cox will require a heavy bond. Some of the men, Davis particularly, has considerable property, and it is believed he will have no trouble to furnish a bond in almost any amount.

The grand jury has not completed its work so far as the officials of the Iron Hall are concerned.

There are more of the "supremers" who are implicated. Their cases will receive attention at the next session, and it will surprise no one to learn that some of the promoters of the Iron Hall are arrested for perjury. Some surprise is expressed that Supreme Accountant Walker is not in the list of indicted ones. It is alleged, however, that he was an underling and did not obey any orders that would put him in the clutches of the law.

LYNCHED FOUR MEN.

They Were White and It Was in the South.

Race Cut No Figure When the Horrible Crime Was Considered.

St. Louis, Oct. 14.—A special to the Chronicle from Camden, Ala., says: Four young white men named Bill Jackson, John Thomas, Dave Mason and Will Davis, arrested for the brutal murder of R. H. Johnston, a prominent Monroe county farmer, and his daughter, confessed their crime this morning and were taken from the officers by a mob of whites and negroes, hanged and then their bodies burned in one great fire.

ST. LOUIS.

Eight Days More of Festivities in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Oct. 14.—Eight days still remain of the fall festivities, which will finally close a week from to-morrow. The crowds attracted by the celebration are larger than ever before in the history of the city, and the ordinary hotel and boarding house accommodations have proved absolutely inadequate to accommodate the crowd of sight-seers who are coming in from all directions to witness the festivities. To meet the difficulty a hotel and boarding bureau has been established, with the result that it has a list of private houses sufficient to accommodate 100,000 guests. A large number of official guides have been engaged to conduct visitors free of charge to these houses, and to see that the charges do not exceed ordinary hotel rates.

WHEN NATURE

Needs assistance it may be best to render it promptly, but one should remember to use even the most perfect remedies only when needed. The best and most simple and gentle remedy is the Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co.

RATES FOR TROOPS.

United States Soldiers Must Pay Full Fare.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14.—A good deal of talk is being indulged in in war department circles over the refusal of the Western Passenger association to make a special rate of one cent per mile for the transportation of the United States troops to Chicago for the world's fair dedicatory exercises, despite the fact that all the state militia have been granted that rate. The argument of the railroads is that there is no reason why a rate lower than that made specially for the traveling public on this occasion should be given to the government.

HARD TO TELL.

Much Speculation as to How St. Louis Will Vote.

St. Louis, Oct. 14.—There is much speculation in St. Louis as to how the city will vote in the coming election. In 1888 the city went republican, but in 1890 the democrats carried all three congressional districts, and all the local offices with one exception.

Since the last general election the population of the city has increased over 75,000, and politicians are kept busy guessing which way the 40,000 new names added to the register will vote. The increase in population in the outlying wards has made several changes in the ward boundaries necessary.

REUNION.

Upper Sandusky, O., Oct. 14.—(Special)—The survivors of Battalion No. 19, of the One Hundred and Forty-fourth regiment, met in reunion here yesterday at Billhardt's hall. Several speeches were made and a fine dinner was served. The next reunion will be held at Carey. Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: H. P. Pool, president; J. B. Armstrong, vice-president; secretary and treasurer, H. B. Hale; Messrs. A. E. Gibbs, Geo. Nye, David Seitz and David Moody, executive committee.

LADIES COMING HOME.

New York, Oct. 14.—Miss Frances E. Willard, Lady Henry Somerset, and Miss Anna Gordon are passengers on board the steamer Etruria, which is due to-day in this port from Liverpool. Lady Somerset's early return to this country is due to her desire to take part in the forthcoming national convention of the Women's Christian Temperance union at Denver, and for which elaborate preparations are in progress.

GLASS WORKERS STRIKE.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 14.—Two hundred employes of the Findlay, O., Window Glass company quit work because of a disagreement over wages. The company had recently changed from the pot to the tank system, and the men demanded a certain sum per day to insure them against loss on account of poor glass.

GOING TO THE DOGS.

London, Oct. 14.—The harness of the horses belonging to the Thirteenth company of the army service corps in Portsmouth, was cut last night, and this morning the company was ordered to remain in its barracks until the cause of the insubordination is known, but it is supposed to be harsh treatment of the men by their officers.

FIRE DAMP.

It causes a Fatal Accident in Shamokin.

Shamokin, Pa., Oct. 14.—An explosion of gas occurred at the Sterling colliery yesterday, supposed to have been caused by a fall of coal breaking a mine lamp. One man was killed, four were injured and seven others entombed. It is believed that all are dead. The searching party has been unable to reach the missing ones, owing to so much "black damp."

The following are the names of the dead and injured:

Dead. Thos. O'Gara, married. Probably dead—Benj. Thomas, married; Samuel Collins, married; Patrick McDevitt, Isaac Donney, single, Joseph Kelchie, married; Michael Wetcherk, single; J. Bellinger, single, and Joseph Milnstock, married.

Injured—Horace Price, driver, mangled; Samuel Loder, cut and bruised; Wm. Mack, driver, cut and mangled; Daniel Reed, driver, skull fractured, burned and cut, will probably die.

THE SWEATING SYSTEM.

Rev. Bliss Makes His Report in Boston.

A Terrible State of Affairs Was Turned Up by the Investigation.

Boston, Oct. 14.—Rev. W. D. P. Bliss, a member of the anti-tenement house league of this city, reported at a metting of that committee last night the results of a personal investigation of the sweating system in New York.

"The sweating system," he said, "does exist in New York city to a most frightful extent and under most frightful conditions," and he is convinced that large amounts of pestilential clothing are brought to Boston.

"The streets on which these tenements are situated," he asserts, "are worse than any I have seen in London, Paris, Berlin or even Constantinople, and I have visited the slums of all these cities. I took up some of the clothing and found it stained and smeared with suspicious filth. I saw women working with naught on save a flimsy skirt and chemise, babies marked and pitted playing amid the clothing, pale-faced women bending over the work, working only too evidently, as some of them said, from 5 o'clock in the morning until 10 or 11 o'clock at night, to earn even half of a man's low pay."

COLORED METHODISTS.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 14.—The triennial conference of the Evangelical Methodist Colored church in the United States opened here to-day, with a large attendance of clerical and lay delegates. Bishop Lennox and W. D. Campbell will take turns in presiding. There are an unusually large number of subjects of theological interest on the program for consideration.

GRAND CONCERT HALL.

Berlin, Oct. 14.—The magnificent new Bechstein Concert hall, which has been in construction for over a year, was formally inaugurated to-day by Dr. Von Bulow. There was a brilliant audience, including many representatives of noble families, while musical circles turned out in force. The piano forte recital was signalized by the production of several new works by Brahms.

HEAVY STORM.

It Has Swept Over the Western Mountains.

Much Damage to Property and Telegraph Wires All Out of Line.

Denver, Colo., Oct. 14.—The rain, sleet and wind storm that began Tuesday night ended yesterday morning, leaving the city in a torn-up condition. The streets are littered with limbs and trunks of trees and all sorts of debris which, before the storm, formed portions of signs, cornices, chimneys and even steeples of churches. Had the weather been a little colder snow would have accompanied the storm, and the chances are that it would have rivaled the famous New York blizzard of 1887.

The electric light, telephone, telegraph and electric car trolley wires were mixed in the greatest confusion and as the wind swung them to and fro they emitted deadly flames which the passer-by had difficulty in escaping. Fortunately no human being was touched by the swinging wires, but three horses which were being driven at the time were struck and killed.

The heavy rain filled the cable conduits and for a time the cars were stopped together with the electric cars, which on several lines were forced to suspend operations because of the breaking of the overhead wires. Cellars were filled with water and great damage was done to goods while the rain, which continued beating on the north side of buildings, has seriously affected the walls.

In the suburbs, where the wind and rain had full sway, many houses were partially wrecked and many trees were blown about indiscriminately. In the middle portion of the state the severest storm for a number of years prevailed. Yesterday all the mountain roads were blocked and this morning there was not a wire in operation and no trains moving except on the south branch of the Union Pacific.

No trains moved either way last night or this morning on the Mountain divisions. The Union Pacific and Fort Worth trains were blockaded somewhere, and as most of the wires up to nightfall were still prostrated it was difficult to locate them. The Santa Fe and Midland trains, due here Wednesday night, did not arrive until last evening. The Rock Island is being blockaded between Lyman and Colorado Springs; no trains can pass that way but are running over the Union Pacific.

Snow plows are operated in the cuts on the Divide, 50 miles south of Denver, today, and it was learned that there are from three to seven feet of snow in the cuts. Cripple Creek reports three feet of snow there, and as the miners in that vicinity were entirely unprepared for the storm, much suffering will ensue.

The storm was very violent in eastern Colorado, the telegraph wires being prostrated for over two miles, and communication between Denver and the eastern cities has been completely cut off for 24 hours. Wyoming also received a part of the storm, and as the wires between this city and Cheyenne are prostrated, it is impossible to get but meager reports.

Heiskell's Ointment

Is a positive cure for all forms of SKIN DISEASE.

We base this assertion on our observation of over thirty years, in which time a very large number and variety of Skin Diseases have been reported to us as cured, by the simple use of Heiskell's Ointment, without the aid of internal remedies. Many of these were cases of long duration, that had resisted the treatment of the most eminent medical talent in this and other countries. Heiskell's Ointment seems never to have failed in a single instance.

ROUGH ON THE CLERK.

The Dear Creatures Knew Just What They Wanted, But They Could Not Agree on Colors.

It was in a large dry goods store, at that time in the afternoon when the crowd is densest and when the plainly dressed and fashionably attired jostle mercilessly against each other in the mad rush for a bargain, says the New York Herald. Two well dressed women elbowed their way through the throng of bargain hunters and made a bee line for the satin counter, over which presided a patient faced, sad eyed clerk.

"Did you ever see a lovelier piece of satin!" exclaimed the trim figured brunette, as she pounced down upon the dainty fabric spread out in tempting folds.

The fluffy blonde replied that she never had.

"Such a soft, silvery, shimmery green!" continued the first speaker. "Turn it to the light a little, please. Yes. So. Ah, those petals! Did you ever see a more melting shade of pink in your life?"

"Yes, it is simply exquisite," chimed in the blonde.

"I think I'll get a dress like this. How much is it a yard? Isn't it lovely?" And the brunette rattled rapturously on, not heeding the clerk's reply.

"Why, Fanny, what would you do with a dress of that? Pale green. Think of the color! It would be so conspicuous, besides the pattern is so large!"

'But it would be so elegant. I should have a long train."

"You would need a court train for that, the design is so large. Now just imagine me in a dress like that, with a train four yards long. It would take two of me to show off the pattern. Why, a single one of those sprays would cover me up."

"Some fat woman will buy this, I warrant."

"That's just the way fat women always do, wear stripes going around and big plaids that make them look like hogsheads."

"Still," contemplatively, "this would look very well on you, Fanny; but when would you wear it? Then, too, it's green. And green is so conspicuous. So John says, and he hates green so. That's the reason I never wear it."

"My husband hates green, too—green and yellow. He likes red, though."

"So does mine, but one can't always wear red."

Here the patient clerk shifted his position and gazed sadly out of the window.

"It's the funniest thing how my husband dislikes green and yellow. But I got a hat with cowslips on it—yellow cowslips, you know—and I didn't like to wear it at first, but would you believe it, George liked it, although he hates yellow." And here the brunette's eyes actually wandered away from the satin as she lost herself in this bit of family history. "And not long ago he went with me to get a silk petticoat and he selected a green one, changeable at that. And think of his hating green and yellow so!"

"It's all bosh. Wear what you like," retorted the blonde. "Men don't know one color from another."

"George likes to have me wear blue. Blue or lavender he thinks are just right. But isn't this lovely! How much did you say it was a yard?" turning to the salesman.

"Seven fifty, madam," answered the clerk automatically.

"Seven fifty! Gracious! what a price! I never could afford a dress of this. But it is so lovely!" And she sighed as she spoke. Then a brilliant idea struck her. "How would it do for a baby's cloak? It wouldn't take much, and it is perfectly"—

"Baby's cloak! Heavens! Why the pattern is too large. Besides the carriage trimmings are blue." And the little blonde looked positively shocked at the suggestion of a possible riot in colors.

"Oh, but I must have some of it. What could I use it for? Seven fifty did you say? Why can't I get three-quarters of a yard for a sofa pillow? It would make a lovely pillow. The design is so delightfully artistic and then one would always imagine the fragrance of the apple blossoms lingered about it."

"It would kill everything in your room. Think how dingy your furniture would look in comparison."

"That's so," returned the other regretfully, "I never thought of that. I suppose it wouldn't do. I guess I'll not take any to-day."

"Is there anything else I can show you to-day?" asked the salesman feebly.

"N-no, seven fifty, you say? Would you mind giving me a sample, please?" she asked sweetly.

A moment later the fair shoppers were elbowing their way to the lace counter. The patient salesman only sighed, and a look of infinite weariness stole over his melancholy features.

HERRMANN'S DONKEY.

He Strayed Away in Mexico With $21,000 on His Back.

A familiar figure about the New York exchanges nowadays is that of Professor Herrmann, the necromancer. He is not a speculator, but a regular plunger, and bears his losses and gains with equal equanimity. For a man who can coax unlimited coin from an empty hat the eagerness he displays in "puts" and "calls" is the subject of much comment. A few days ago he was caught "short," and over a bottle of wine shortly after he told the following story of one black Friday in his existence:

"It's a cold world after all," he said; "sometimes we're up and sometimes down. The downest time I ever had was back in the seventies in Mexico. The Peruvian war was in progress and gold was out of sight or only seen at a big premium. My mania for speculation took possession of me, and with the remnant of a fortune of $21,000 I invested in English and American gold. I was in Mexico at the time and intended reaching South America with my treasure by the way of Panama. Travel through Mexico to the frontier on burros, a distance of some hundreds of miles, with the $21,000 is neither safe nor pleasant. Every bush in Mexico contains not an officer for conscience to fear, but a robber. I was intimately acquainted with President Diaz at the time, and on my representation to him of my enterprise and my fears for the safety of my cash he provided me with an escort of 21 soldiers and an officer. They supposed the panniers strapped to one little donkey contained nothing more than my wardrobe.

"Mme. Herrmann was in special charge of the donkey with the valuable baggage, and her instructions were to watch it as she would her chances for heaven. We camped each night and journeyed by day, making one or two daily rests for refreshments. My hopes of untold wealth during the journey were as high as the Rocky mountains, and I could scarcely contain my spirits. Everything went well until we nearly reached Central America, when one day the animal with the treasure was missed. Mme. Herrmann forgot him during our al fresco lunch, and he had scampered off with the treasury. The cold dew sparkles on my forehead yet when I recall that day. My heart stood still. As for Mme. Herrmann, she just fainted—nothing more. I had to tell my secret to the guard, and everyone started out in the wilds of Mexico in search of the lost donkey. Hours passed and no tidings came of the object sought. How I thought of Joshua and wished, like him, I could have prolonged that day. Then came the harrassing doubts—maybe one of the Mexican soldiers would find the donkey and forget to come back with him and his burden. At last, toward dusk, 10 miles away, the donkey was found grazing with the $21,000 on his back. Fancy the picture! His return was a kind of a 'prodigal-son-homeward-bound-affair,'" and the professor lit a fresh cigarette.

"Well, how did you come out? Did you win or drop?" queried a Herald reporter.

"Well, I multiplied the original figures by two in a week afterward," answered Herrmann, with a quiet chuckle, "and brought the donkey back to the United States and pensioned him during his life. High living and idleness killed him."

The health to the memory of the dead donkey at Herrmann's request was drunk standing.

HER DILEMMA.

A Pretty Plan, But One That Failed to Work as It Should.

A young woman who does not mind in the least "telling on herself," says the Philadelphia Times, as the children say, related the following little experience that goes to prove what a scrape a woman's vanity can get her into:

"I never did have small feet, though I always was just crazy about them and would have given anything to be able to wear number twos instead of fives.

"Consequently when pa got rich and bought me a victoria my pleasure was a little dampened because I had to keep my feet under my gown, for how would fives look stuck out on the little cushions put in for that purpose? Every day in the park I looked at the dainty high-heeled shoes of my neighbors as they were displayed to such good advantage, and at length resolved upon a plan which I thought very clever and which would make me the envied instead of the envious fair one.

"I took my maid into my confidence, and we went to a shoe store and bought the sweetest pair of bronze ties, No. 2, on those wooden forms with silk stockings and all to match. You see, I was going to place them on the cushion and keep my own gunboats out of sight as usual. The hour arrived for my drive, and Marie came down to my carriage, and with a pretext of fixing my gown, arranged the little shoes to my entire satisfaction, and I rolled away for once thoroughly pleased with my self.

"That ride was a dream of delight. I could look down and see those dainty things, and though I got sort of cramped after a while, still I was a very happy martyr when I drew up before my own door once more. But where was Marie? She was nowhere to be seen, but a man whom I liked very much was fast approaching, and I knew that a crisis was imminent. If I could get out with those wretched boofes and get into the house before he reached me all would be well. To sit still only meant disaster, for he would come along and offer to assist me to alight, which I couldn't very well refuse, and to leave them behind was to let the world know my little feet were false.

"Driven to desperation, I grabbed up those horrid things, for by this time I could see no beauty in them, and started for the steps. All would have been well had not my gown caught in some mysterious manner and there I was when a man friend came to my relief, holding those evidences of my vanity in one hand and trying to extricate myself with the other. He gave a surprised glance at my burden and another at the small cushions and seemed to take in the situation, though I do not give him credit for not staring at my own feet. That would have been the last straw.

"As it is, I can never look him in the face again, but my vanity in regard to my feet has vanished forever and henceforth I wear my own or stay at home."

NOVELTIES IN DENTISTRY.

Artificial Teeth a Cheap Luxury—Secrets of the Profession.

"We sold 1,000,000 more false teeth last year than me ever disposed of before in a twelvemonth," said the manager of the greatest dental supply establishment in the world to a reporter yesterday. "I don't imagine that people are losing their teeth more rapidly now than heretofore, although it is unquestionably the case that the enduring quality of the human chewing apparatus has become progressively less from generation to generation in this country. It is more the fashion now than it has ever been in the past to wear false teeth, partly for the reason that the public has come to realize what excellent substitutes they are for real ones and partly owing to the fact that toothlessness excites more disgust than it did in old times, when such an affliction was commonly observed and was regarded as unavoidable.

"It is very rare to see a person nowadays, whether a man or a woman, visibly disfigured by the absence of teeth. Anybody whose grinders fall out will in nearly every case go to a dental surgeon and procure artificial ones. They don't cost much. You can get a complete double set for from $16 up to $75. Probably a fashionable dentist will charge you the latter price. His margin of profit is considerable, inasmuch as the teeth themselves cost only from 15 to 18 cents apiece. They are made of porcelain, of kaolin usually, baked in an oven. For the plates the material best approved is rubber. The handsomest plates are made of celluloid, and they have the advantage of lightness in weight, but celluloid does not resist well the acids with which it comes in contact in the mouth. Aluminum has been tried, but it is affected by vinegar and salt, as well as by other substances that are eaten, the result being the development of a salt of aluminum, which is thought to be injurious to the system.

"The enamel of artificial teeth is composed of metallic oxides, and the finishing processes to which they are subjected are so delicate that no two teeth produced can be made exactly alike in point of coloring. Among all the hundred of thousands of teeth which we keep in stock probably no two would match to absolute perfection. But those that are most nearly alike are put together so that the eye of nobody but an expert would detect any difference. After all, natural teeth exhibit marked dissimilarities in any individual.

"It does not do to make false teeth look too handsome lest they appear unnatural, and dentals surgeons commonly carry their imitation of nature so far as to make teeth in many instances look more or less defective, the better to carry out the deception. What is called 'bridge work' consists in inserting a false tooth in a gap between two natural ones in the jaw, fastening it in place by gold bands around the adjoining teeth. Gold crowns are frequently put on old roots nowadays, this device having the advantage that the crown can be readily removed at any time for the purpose of keeping the root beneath in good condition.

"The latest important invention in the line of dentistry is a machine by which steel excavating burs are made. Hitherto these delicate little instruments have had to be manufactured by hand. You can only perceive how delicate they are by examining them under a powerful magnifying glass. To make them by hand was a very laborious process, and not less than $600,000 was spent in experiments before the machine for producing them was successfully constructed. It turns them out with such rapidity that they only cost 19 cents apiece now."

During one week this month 313 car loads containing 3,816 tons of green fruit were shipped east from California. So far this season 6,000,000 more pounds of fruit have been shipped than last year.

The cotton crop of last season was 9,035,270 bales, by far the largest ever raised. Of this crop 5,933,437 bales have been exported; northern mills took 2,190,766 bales, which leaves 911,176 bales undisposed of.

An ingenious Frenchman has invented a contrivance for removing the hair by machinery. It is said that it operates with as great precision as Dr. Guillotin's and does not remove so much of the man with the hair.

The ancient convent of La Rabida, where Queen Isabella's confessor lived in the days of Columbus, is soon to receive within its walls a real live queen. Donna Christina will reside there when she goes to Palos in October to inaugurate the Columbus monument.

KEEP IT UP, BOYS!

The Registration Yesterday Means Victory

For the Democratic Congressional and County Tickets—Heavy Gains in Every Precinct.

There were heavy gains in almost every precinct yesterday over the number of votes registered a year ago.

There is a sure sign of democratic victory, for there is the greatest apathy among republicans, and there are hundreds of honest republicans who are so disgusted with Ashley's methods of campaigning and his previous political career that they will refrain from registering.

Every democrat owes it to himself to see that he registers, and that his neighbor does the same.

A heavy registration now means democratic victory in November.

To register now means the right to vote for Grover Cleveland and Byron Ritchie. He is a mighty poor democrat who will ruthlessly throw away that great privilege.

The registration shows an average gain of over 15 per cent. throughout the city. If this registration continues Toledo will poll a larger vote than ever in its history.

Following is a summary of the registration yesterday and the corresponding day a year ago:

	1892.	1891.
First ward	840	659
Second ward	430	405
Third ward	688	684
Fourth ward	514	399
Fifth ward—A	140	107
B	109	79
C	119	109
Sixth ward	638	492
Seventh ward	1078	883
Eighth ward	1098	773
Ninth ward	441	427

One precinct is lacking in each of the Ninth, Seventh, Sixth and Third wards in yesterday's registration.

It's No Secret.

Every one knows that Lamson Bros. always show the best line of Handkerchiefs.

PENSION FRAUDS.

Samuel Green Gets Himself Into Trouble.

He Was Impersonating His Father and Was Caught at It.

Dover, N. H., Oct. 14.—Samuel W. Green, of Wells, Maine, slept last night in jail here, charged with one of the worst cases of pension fraud ever perpetrated.

Samuel Green, of Wells, Maine, enlisted in Company K., Fourteenth Maine regiment, November 27, 1861, being 40 years of age and was discharged March 27, 1862, at Augusta, by reason of the loss of threee toes on each foot, before he was enlisted. He never applied for a pension, and was run over and killed by cars at Damariscotta, Maine, while intoxicated, eight years ago.

He had a son, Samuel W., who filed a claim for a pension July 24, 1890, at Saco, Me., under the name of Samuel Green, alleging that he enlisted December 17, 1861, in Company K., Fourteenth regiment Maine volunteers, and was discharged by reason of taking cold at Augusta, and had heart trouble and had been disabled half the time since.

The claim was granted, giving $12 a month from the date of application.

The pension department found that there were some discrepancies between Green's statement and the record and referred it to Charles Fairbanks, special pension examiner for New Hampshire, with the above result.

INTERNATIONAL QUESTION

An Editor Gets Into Jail in Pennsylvania.

The Hungarian Government's Agent Ignored by the Constable.

Pittsburg, Oct. 14.—What may develop into an international row begun here yesterday. Detective Murphy, of Pittsburg, and Constable Gallagher, of Wilkesbarre, seized P. V. Ravannick, editor of a Hungarian paper, forcibly rushed him from his office and are now on the way to Wilkesbarre to put him in jail.

He is charged with criminal libel by the Rev. Father Kossalko, a Slav priest at Hazelton.

In the crowd that gathered was the Austro-Hungarian consul, Max Schamberg, who recognized in the prisoner a subject of the government he represented. He objected to the kidnaping and demanded Ravannick's release. He offered to go the prisoner's bail in the sum of $50,000, but the officers only laughed at him as the train pulled out.

Schamberg will petition the courts and the authorities at Washington for the release of the editor and the revocation of the officers' licenses.

OCTOBER STYLES.

What looks neater or is more fashionable than a handsome black silk dress?

And it is really the most economical, since it can be made at trifling expense from an old dress and two or three packages of Diamond Dye fast blacks. These dyes are simple to use, never crock or fade, and make old clothing look like new.

HOW THEY GROW.

The year of greatest growth in boys is the seventeenth; in girls, the fourteenth. While girls reach full height in their fifteenth year they acquire full weight at the age of 20. Boys are stronger than girls from birth to the eleventh year; then girls become superior physically to the seventeenth year, when the tables are again turned and remain so. From November to April children grow little and gain no weight; from April to July they gain in height, but lose in weight, and from July to November they increase greatly in weight, but not in height.—British Medical Monthly.

THE GENUINE AND THE SHAM.

Every good thing has its host of imitators; every genuine article its counterfeits. The imitators always choose the most valuable and popular article to counterfeit, so that when they claim their sham to be equal, or as good, or the same as "So-and-So's," the public may depend upon it that "So-and-So's" article is the best of the kind. The sham proves the genuine merit of the thing it copies, and never has this been better illustrated than by the imitations of Allcock's Porous Plasters.

Allcock's Porous Plaster is the standard of excellence the world over, and its imitators in their cry that theirs is "as good as Allcock's" are only emphasizing this fact and admitting "Allcock's" to be the acme of perfection, which it is their highest ambition to imitate. The difference between the genuine and these imitations, which copy only general appearance, is as wide as that between copper and gold.

The only safe way for purchasers is to always insist upon having Allcock's Porous Plasters. They are the only perfect plasters ever produced.

END-OF-THE-CENTURY THIEF

Aurelien Scholl Moralizes on Frenchy Manners of the Day.

Now, according to Aurelien Scholl, there exists in France at least the burglar fin-de-siecle.

"A very well-known Parisian, one of those whom nothing surprises, Viscount de Saint-Rieul," writes Aurelien Scholl, "returned to his house by chance at 10 o'clock at night. Having forgotten his eyeglasses he could not play poker at the Jockey Club. Saint-Rieul jumped into a cab, saying, 'To my house, Rue Saint Florentin.'

"At 10 o'clock at night his valet had, naturally, gone out. Saint-Rieul slipped a microscopic key into the lock, lighted a lamp, and, walking into his bedroom, saw there an unknown man, who wore a brown hat. This personage, armed with a pair of pincers, seemed busy picking the lock of a little safe which would not have attracted the attention of amateurs.

"Recognizing the presence of some one the unknown stopped work.

"Saint-Rieul took off his hat and, holding it, asked in a polite voice: 'Messieur is doubtless a burglar?'

"'Quite true,' answered the unknown.

"'I'm really sorry to have interfered with your plans,' Saint-Rieul went on.

"'Who would suppose,' said the burglar, 'that a man of the world, a noted club man, would come home at such an hour?'

"'I forgot something, otherwise my presence would be inexplicable.'

"The burglar sighed.

"'I've had no luck for some time. My associate and I were about to pull off a very pretty little affair at a house in the neighborhood. But there was a pet terrier there that barked furiously and roused the neighbors. We let the dog-catchers know that the dog had a license, but was not muzzled, and they promised to capture it the first time it went into the yard. So we had to wait. Idleness is abhorrent to me, so I came to your house lest I should grow rusty.'

"'Your explanations touch me,' replied Saint-Rieul, 'but since I have had the luck to return in time I beg you to retire.'

"'Immediately, Messieur——'

"'Take a cigar?'

"'With pleasure,' said the visitor, 'for it would be almost culpable for me to go away empty-handed.'

"'The staircase is lighted all the way down,' answered the Viscount, 'so I need not show you out. If the porter in the hall is so indiscreet as to ask whence you come tell him only from M. de Saint-Rieul's. He'll let you out.'

"'Thanks very much.'

"'But light your cigar.——

"'Don't, I beg, trouble yourself. I have matches. Charmed to have made your acquaintance.'

"'Adieu, messieur.'

"'I have the honor to bid you good night.'

"And the burglar walked softly down the staircase.

"Everyone can see by this that it is not only the style, the fashion of conceiving ideas, of looking at them and of writing them that have undergone such profound modification; it is the manners, the prevailing way of living that have changed. One no longer steals; he takes his own or he finds it again; the murderer is no longer an assassin, he is a 'propagandist by deed.' If any one demands from you to-night, 'Your money or your life!' there's nothing left but to answer, 'Brother, how much do you want?'

"There is only one thing to fear; that the 'propagandist by deed' may answer, 'I want all,' and leave you stripped. 'Brothers' exist, even so needy as that!"

OVERTAXING THE EYES.

The Numerous Ways in Which People Abuse Their Sight.

The eyes should never be severely taxed, when that can be avoided. This does not mean non-use, for these very delicate servants are so marvellously and powerfully constructed that they will stand a great amount of hard work, if the conditions are favorable, without injury, says a writer in Good Housekeeping. Some of the most injurious practices are those connected with reading, especially the modern fine type and poorly printed newspaper. Reading upon railroad trains or street cars is to be avoided, if possible, since the vibration of the book or paper contantly breaks the focus, and imposes a severe strain upon the optics.

Reading by a low light, as at twilight, or with too strong a glare upon the paper, especially if reflected directly toward the eyes, are equally harmful. So is reading in bed or in any recumbent position, where the matter must be held in a constrained manner and the eyes be twisted into unnatural positions to see the page. The effect may not be immediate, and, when it is noticed, will generally be ascribed to anything else rather than the right cause; but, in fact, it is the continued and excessive strain which induces that feeling of weariness about the eyes, that dull headache just in the rear of the pupils, that heated feeling, which very readily becomes a chronic inflammation of low degree, most disagreeable to bear and ruinous to the fine charm and the unspeakable glory of the perfect eye.

The same results is also reached by using the sight steadily while the person is physically or mentally exhausted, and in need of complete repose. How often the remark is heard: "Let me look over the paper while I rest myself." And this may even be done under the specially unfavorable conditions above referred to, such as lying on a lounge or in a hammock, where the light and the position are wholly wrong. Better, much better, if the safety of the vision and preservation of the organs of sight are of any value, to allow the mental or physical process of restoration to go on without diversion from book or paper, and when the returning strength has asserted itself, to give such time as may be practicable to the perusal of the news or the novel. If there is no time that can be spared for that object, then manifestly the crowding of the tax into a period where it had no place was a wrong and an imposition upon the most valuable and susceptible faculties of the body.

In the last year the American Bible society printed and issued from the Bible house 913,678 copies of the Bible, which is more than two books for every minute of the 313 working days of the year.

HELD UP THE TRAIN.

Another Bold Robbery in Coffeyville.

Masked Men Go Through a Train.

They Have All the Trouble and Only Get Away with Five Hundred Dollars.

Coffeyville, Ks., Oct. 14.—The night express on the Denver branch of the Missouri Pacific railway was held up and the express car robbed between Caney and Tyro at midnight Thursday night by two masked men.

When the train stopped at Caney at 11 o'clock, one of the robbers secreted himself on the forward platform of the combination express and baggage car.

Shortly after leaving Caney the robber climbed over the tender, and with a heavy revolver, ordered the engineer to stop the train.

The engineer brought the train to a standstill and the robber cut the combination car from the train and compelled the engineer to draw the car to a deep cut half a mile east.

Here the other robber made his appearance and both began firing their revolvers.

The express messenger was ordered to open the door of the car and after several shots were fired through the panels he complied.

One of the robbers entered the car while the other remained on guard outside. The messenger opened the safe and the robber hastily grabbing the packages and envelopes which it contained, placed them in a small sack and jumped from the car. They then ordered the engineer to back the car to where the train was left standing, and, after firing a few more shots as a warning, disappeared in the darkness.

Both robbers wore heavy black masks and their clothing was spattered with mud, indicating that they were mounted and had ridden hard.

The express messenger claims he does not know the value of the booty secured.

The express officials and railway men at different points along the line claim that the robbers did not secure $500, if, indeed, they got that amount.

When the train reached Tyro the watchman was told of the robbery, but no effort was made to get a posse and pursue the robbers. This morning the railway people sent a squad of officers to Tyro and will begin an active search for the men.

EPISCOPAL CONVENTION.

Eighth Day of the Convention in Baltimore.

Baltimore, Oct. 14.—Bishop Scarborough of New Jersey, and Rev. Dr. Edmunds of Albany, conducted the religious services opening the eighth day's session of the Episcopal triennial convention. The house of deputies leisurely assembled. Dr. Dix appointed the following committee on the disposition of the standard book of common prayer: Rev. Dr. Huntingdon, New York; Rev. Dr. Samuel N. Hart, Connecticut, and George C. Thomas, Pennsylvania.

Rev. Dr. Huntingdon presented a voluminous report from the committee on constitutional amendments, which was made the order of the day after the hymnal has been disposed of. The memorial of the diocese of Massachusetts, praying the authorization of the use of the revised version of the holy scriptures, was unfavorably reported from the committee thereon. The grounds given were the controversy among the revisionists, the distortion of the new versions, "its cumbrous and pedantic phrases that obscure the sense and offend the ear," in the language of Rev. Dr. Battershall, who made the report, and the lack of that air of authority which clusters about the King James version. Rev. Dr. Abbott presented his views as the minority member of the committee, and claimed that it was not the object of the resolution to make the use of the revised version obligatory. The matter was made the order of the day following the now existing special orders. A favorable report on setting apart of the southern section of Florida as missionary territory was adopted.

HE WANTED TO DIE

After Committing a Most Horrible Crime.

McEwan, the Care-Taker, Will Recover From the Self-Inflicted Wounds.

Glasgow, October 14.—McEwan, the caretaker, accused of murdering and dismembering a woman named Elizabeth O'Connor, with whom he was spending the night in his room at West Lodge, will recover from the effects of wounds he inflicted upon himself in an effort to commit suicide.

The knife with which he cut his throat was dull and he did not succeed in severing the jugular vein.

McEwan and the sailor McNeilly, who admits having been in company of McEwan and the woman on the night the murder occurred, are still in custody and the police are busily engaged in working up the evidence against the prisoners.

FIRED AT RANDOM.

The Peru Barbecue Ends Disastrously.

Kokomo, Ind., Oct. 14.—James Kelly, a wood enameler of this city, was probably fatally shot on a Lake Erie special train this morning while returning from the Peru barbecue.

One bullet cut through his right hand and the second entered his left side.

Surgeons have probed for the ball, but without success and his condition is critical. His assailant is unknown. He marched through the car swinging a revolver and shot at random. It is said he left the train at Bennett's Switch. The officers are looking for him.

CHOLERA RIOTS.

Serious Times Reported From Poland.

London, Oct. 14.—Serious cholera riots have occurred in the town of Ostrovo, in Poland. A sanguinary conflict took place between Christians and Jews, and the situation assumed such a threatening aspect that the authorities were forced to call upon the military to put down the rioters. A body of troops was despatched to the place and after vigorous action succeeded in suppressing the disorderly element.

Fears of a cholera epidemic at Marseilles have heightened by the occurrence of five deaths from suspicious sickness.

TALKING OF STRIKING.

New York, Oct. 14.—A New York Central switchman informed a reporter of the United Press this morning that the switchmen on the road were likely to strike this morning. One of the union men said the men were only waiting for additional particulars of the strike to go out at once. The railroad officials do not put much credence in the statement. They say the defeat the Buffalo switchmen suffered has taught the men all along the line a lesson.
